GREAT RAILROAD STRIKE SEEMS NEARER

30,000 Soldiers Caught In Tropical Hurricane Sweeping South Texas

Camps of Guardsmen and Regulars at Brownsville and Other Points Completely Wrecked by Great Gale.

SOLDIERS TAKE REFUGE IN PUBLIC BUILDINGS

Hardly a Tent Left Standing—Feared Great Stores of Army Supplies Will Be Ruined—Brunt of Storm Borne by Corpus Christi, Where Great Damage Is Reported.

Corpus Christi, Texas, a town of about 20,000 people and a popular coast resort, probably will receive the brunt of the tropical storm which last night was approaching the Texas coast of the Gulf of Mexico. Corpus Christi is 200 miles south of Galveston and 125 miles north of Brownsville, and the mouth of the Rio Grande.

Wire communication with Corpus Christi was interrupted shortly after 7 o'clock last night. At that hour the wind had reached a velocity of 70 miles an hour and warning had been given by the weather bureau that a 120-mile wind might be expected when the storm reached its crest, which was expected about midnight.

While the storm was reported early yesterday to be headed for some point near the mouth of the Rio Grande, Brownsville reported last night over the army wireless at Fort Brown that only broken windows, levelled fences and trees and the razing of tents in the military camps near Brownsville had resulted. United States soldiers and national guardsmen from Illinois, Iowa and Virginia, were forced to take refuge in the city hall, courthouse and warehouses. Communication by telegraph and telephone was lost from Brownsville early in the day. The wind velocity there reached a maximum of 60 miles an hour.

Point Isabel, a gulf coast resort, 20 miles from Brownsville, was not seriously damaged by the wind.

The scope of the storm extended from Corpus Christi, on the north, to Tampico, Mexico, on the south. While comprehensive communication with the latter place was impossible Friday, nine lives may have been lost in the storm. The steamer Pilot Boy in coastwise service between Corpus Christi and Galveston, was sunk somewhere in the gulf about noon Friday. The boat was a small freighter and carried a crew of twelve men. Three of them were reported to have been washed ashore at Port Aransas. Another report said that the crew was saved. Neither could be verified.

WIDE SWEEP OF HURRICANE.

Brownsville, Texas, August 18.—(By Radio to San Antonio, Texas.)—Damage here from the hurricane was slight up to 6 o'clock tonight, although the wind during the day reached a velocity of sixty miles an hour. The barometer marked 29.27 during the middle of the afternoon, but at 5 o'clock it rose to 29.35.

At dark the territory in the reaches of the storm extended from Corpus Christi to Tampico, Mexico. There was then no sign of abatement.

The wind, starting from the northeast, later changed to the southwest and tonight was blowing out to sea.

The damage here consisted mostly of broken plate glass windows and leveled fences and trees. Hundreds of army tents are down and the troops moved into the city. Communication by telephone and telegraph is lost.

Point Isabel, a gulf coast resort, reported late today that all was well there.

The steamer Raccoon at Tampico sent a radio here reporting ground swell there.

30,000 SOLDIERS IN PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

San Antonio, Texas, August 18.—General Funston at 9 o'clock tonight received a wireless message from General James Parker at Brownsville in which he stated that the storm seemed to be abating there. The wind then was reported at 50 miles.

A government wireless message to Fort Sam Houston at 8:35 o'clock tonight said that the trouble at the lighting station at Brownsville might leave the city in darkness and that the water supply was in danger. The Rio Grande was rising, the message said, and several washouts had been reported.

General Parker, commanding, ordered temporary abandonment of all militia camps. The wooden buildings of the Iowa camp were blown down, the Illinois camp was under water, the horses of the Illinois guard suffered greatly from exposure, some had been lost and roads were impassable.

Fort Sam Houston at 11 p. m. reported the following message from a field wireless station erected at McAllen, Texas, via the big radio at Brownsville:

"Half of New York national guardsmen tents down and nearly as many

HARRIS WORKS LATE SIGNING MEASURES

Bank Acceptance, Auto Larceny and Additional Veteran Pensions Bills Are Made Laws.

Governor Harris was detained to a late hour at his office in the capitol Friday night reading and signing bills passed at the recent session of the legislature. It was not until near midnight that he finally departed for the executive mansion. During the course of the afternoon and evening he affixed his name to a number of important general measures to say nothing of the usual hopper of local bills.

So far the governor has vetoed but one bill, the Neill primary law, but it was reported that two or three others might meet with his disapproval before his task of passing upon the legislative work of the year is concluded.

Bank Acceptance Measure.

A bill which the governor regards as a very important measure and which became a law Friday is that of Senator Rad Turner, of the twenty-first district, authorizing banks and trust companies to accept drafts and bills of exchange drawn on them by customers and to issue letters of credit authorizing the drawing of such drafts and bills of exchange. The law limits the time of such bills of exchange and drafts to six months from date and provides that they be secured by good marketable collateral.

Other Bills Signed.

Other measures signed were as follows:

To make the larceny of automobiles a felony.

To provide for special registration for any election in any county, to determine whether said county can create a bonded debt.

To provide for the payment of additional pensions for maimed confederate soldiers, beginning with $10 additional for the current year and increasing in amount $10 each year until $40 additional annually has been paid.

To amend section 3438 of the criminal code in regard to usury so as to prevent the voiding of title to land by usury in a conveyance contract.

To allow females to be clerks in the offices of courts of ordinary.

To furnish public libraries with colonial, revolutionary and confederate records free of cost except for transportation.

To authorize the board of trustees of the first and third district agricultural schools to borrow money on the property of said schools.

To adopt a floral emblem for the state.

The governor declared that he would sign the bill requiring ordinaries to record the names and addresses of consignees of vinous and malt liquors Saturday. He had deferred the signing of the measure in order to give the carriers sufficient notice to prepare for putting it into effect.

SYNDICATE RUSHES FOR NEW BRITISH LOAN

Participations So Large as to Cause Closing of the Books.

New York, August 18.—Syndicate participations in the new British $250,000,000 loan were so large, according to the statements of managers, as to cause a closing of the subscription books today. The books for public subscriptions will not be opened until next week, but it is stated that applications in large numbers have already been received.

Cherokee Rose Named State Floral Emblem; Governor Signs Bill

It can no longer be said that Georgia has no state flower. Governor Harris last night affixed his signature to the bill making the Cherokee rose official floral emblem of the state. The Cherokee rose was selected by the clubwomen of the state as the flower most appropriate for our floral emblem and it was in accordance with their wishes that the measure was passed. Most of the other states have preceded Georgia in the adoption of a state flower.

EX-MAYOR OF GIRARD PLACED UNDER ARREST

Girard, Ala., August 18.—Isaac L. Moses, former mayor of Girard and publisher of The Phoenix-Girard Journal, and William Becker, a local merchant, today were arrested on indictments charging them with violations of the prohibition laws. They have been released on bonds of $500 each. The indictments accuse them of having rented buildings to alleged "blind tiger" operators.

Deputy Sheriff Eagland today announced that a majority of persons for whom he holds warrants charging violation of prohibition laws, have left the county.

GERMANS DRIVEN FROM POSITIONS ON SOMME FRONT

North of the River the Anglo-French Forces Launch Attacks Which Result in Gaining Ground.

GAINS MADE IN CENTER OF GERMAN POSITIONS

Several Hundred Prisoners Taken by the Allied Forces. Gains Mark Another Step in Allied Advance Toward Combles.

London, August 18.—Assaults by British and French forces against German positions north of the Somme in France have resulted in the gaining of additional ground by the attackers, according to the British and French war office. The French advance was in and around Maurepas, the scene of much hard fighting during the last few weeks, and the British gain was in the direction of Ginchy and Guillemont, near the southern end of their section of the Somme front.

The Anglo-French attack, London says, took place along the whole line from Pozieres to the Somme.

The gains reported by Paris and London were in the center of the German positions on the Somme front and mark another step in the Anglo-French advance toward Combles. French troops gained more ground in the village of Maurepas, after the stopping of German counter attacks near the village. Calvary Hill, southeast of the village, was carried by assault and the French position on the Maurepas-Clery road was also extended.

British troops advanced successfully in the region of Ginchy and Guillemont and seized more German positions. London mentions no gain on any other part of this front. The Anglo-French forces captured more than 400 prisoners in their advance.

The French offensive continues on the right bank of the Meuse, in the Verdun region, and Paris chronicles the capture of two fortified redoubts northeast of the Thiaumont work. Progress also is reported for the French east of the Vaux Chapitre wood.

Berlin reports attacks by the French and British forces north of the Somme, but says all of them were repulsed except one by the British in the direction of Martinpuich. A French gain around Fleury, in the Verdun region, is admitted.

Artillery bombardments are taking place on the Austro-Italian front around Gorizia. Rome claims an advance for the Italians in the Trentino.

ATTACK MADE ON ENTIRE FRONT.

With the British Army in France, August 18.—(Via London.)—The English and French attacked the German lines this afternoon along the entire front from the Ancre to the Somme, where their blows during the past six weeks have broken the German first line everywhere and the second line at many points.

From the ridge above Pozieres, where the battered stone ruins of a windmill stand to the highest point on the horizon, along the edges of bloody High wood and thence along Delville or Delville's wood to the lower levels of the river valley, where there has been no cessation in the fighting or the pounding of the guns day after day, there was a continuous cloud of smoke from the bursting shells as the British and French guns united in their thunders.

The British made gains on either side of Guillemont, where the Germans still hold the fortifications of their old second line and have their heaviest concentration of guns.

The fighting still is in progress at this writing.

MORE PROGRESS FOR THE FRENCH.

Paris, August 18.—The French forces have made further progress in the village of Maurepas and also along the road from Maurepas to Clery, according to the official communication issued this evening. On the remainder of the front during Friday there was the usual bombardment.

The communication says:

"North of the Somme our attack, directed on a part of Maurepas occupied by the Germans, enabled us in the course of a brilliant assault to carry a notable portion of the village, together with Calvary Hill, situated to the southeast. In this operation we took 200 unwounded prisoners.

"Between Maurepas and the Somme we extended our position to the east of Maurepas-Clery road.

"On the right bank of the Meuse we continued our offensive, driving the enemy from two fortified redoubts northwest of the Thiaumont work, taking 100 unwounded Germans, including five officers and also three machine guns.

"East of the Vaux-Chapitre wood we made appreciable progress in the vicinity of the road from Vaux to the fort.

"The customary cannonades took took place during the day on the rest of the front."

BRITISH CAPTURE GERMAN POSITIONS.

London, August 19.—Further German positions in the region of Ginchy and Guillemont have been captured by the British forces operating in the

Leaders in Rail Conferences at White House

WHITE HOUSE

The labor leaders who conferred with President Wilson on the railroad strike situation were headed by A. B. Garretson, president of the conductors, who has worked for a decade for the eight-hour day. By his side walked Grand Chief Warren S. Stone of the engineers, President W. S. Carter of the firemen and enginemen and President William G. Lee of the trainmen, followed by the other labor chairmen. Elisha Lee is chairman of the railroad managers opposing the demands of the men and acted as their spokesman in the white house conference. The president is said to have said that he had not cut out for himself the task of judging the merits of the issues, but that his task was to try to avert a strike.

SHUBERT PLANNING TO OPERATE GRAND

International Circuit Will Offer Popular Price Attractions at Local Theater, Beginning on September 4.

The International circuit, a revival of the old Stair & Havlin theatrical circuit of forty cities, will be inaugurated in Atlanta and 39 other American cities on Labor day, September 4, the Grand Opera house housing the Atlanta performances, according to news received in local theatrical circles from New York city last night.

The lease on the Grand Opera house held by J. E. Hunnicutt expires on September 1, and the Shuberts, of New York, have decided to put on popular-priced shows.

It is understood that occasionally a high-class Shubert performance will be seen at this theater. The other shows will cost 50 cents for admission.

Moses Wise in Charge.

Moses Wise, formerly manager of the Academy of Music, Richmond, Va., will be in charge of the local playhouse.

The old Stair & Havlin shows, which were played in forty American cities which constituted the Stair & Havlin circuit, were probably the most popular shows of their kind with the American theatrical public ever put on in this country. They formerly played at the old Bijou theater and later at the Lyric, with Hugh Cardoza as manager.

One year ago Gus Hill, the comedy producer; William A. Brady, dramatic producer, and Harry Blaney, the melodrama king, decided to revise the old Stair & Havlin circuit, and the organization of forty show companies was begun. These companies have now been whipped into shape. There are musical comedies, dramas, melodramas and comedies. These four classes of shows are to be shown in rotation, the companies continually moving from city to city in the circuit.

Two Shows a Week.

Usually three-night stands are made in a city, which will mean that Atlanta will get two shows every week.

Much speculation in the local theatrical and moving picture world has been going on as to what would become of the Grand Opera house at the expiration of Hunnicutt's lease of it as a movie house. The Shuberts, who have the lease from the DeGives, have decided not to lease the theater again, but to operate it themselves, booking the International circuit's shows here.

It was thought at one time that Marcus Loew would lease the Grand Opera house from the Shuberts and operate a first-class vaudeville house.

Women to See Governor Sign Measure Allowing Them to Practice Law

As a number of women have expressed a desire to be present at the signing of the bill permitting members of their sex to practice law in Georgia, Governor Harris announced last night that he would publicly affix his signature to the measure at 10 o'clock this morning.

Several requests have been made of the governor for the pen which he will use on that occasion. Among those who have put in a bid for the pen is Mrs. Minnie Hale, the law graduate, who was denied admission to the bar, and who had her application tested by the supreme court. Mrs. Hale was active in securing the passage of the bill and she naturally would prize the pen through which it is made a law.

BOY, 12 YEARS OLD, UNDER INDICTMENT FOR MOTHER MURDER

New Orleans, La., August 18.—Willie Zimmer, 12 years old, today was indicted by the Orleans parish grand jury, charged with first degree murder for shooting and killing his mother here last July. Court officials said the boy was the youngest person ever indicted for murder in Louisiana. District Attorney Luzenburg stated that under the law he will be tried in the district court and if convicted could be sentenced to the penitentiary or to be hanged, if the jury so decided in its verdict.

The coroner, who examined the boy, reported to the court that he found him sane, "but cunning and shrewd and of a naturally vicious character."

U-BOAT DEUTSCHLAND REPORTED AT BREMEN

Private Telegram From Berlin Announces Arrival of Submarine From United States.

Geneva, August 18.—(Via Paris.)—A private telegram received today from Berlin by The Neue Zuricher Zeitung says that the German submarine Deutschland arrived safely on yesterday at Bremen from the United States.

Passed Deutschland August 10.

Newport News, Va., August 18.—The captain of a Norwegian steamer which arrived in Hampton Roads for bunker coal stated today that he passed the German merchant submarine Deutschland August 10, then eight days out of the Virginia capes. The captain said he spoke to the Deutschland and that she was under full headway. He said he was very close to the submarine.

The captain said when he sighted the Deutschland he took her for a sailing vessel in distress. He went toward her and then spoke. Much to his surprise he received a reply which said it was the Deutschland.

BALLOTS FOR WOMEN CERTAIN IN ENGLAND

Premier Asquith Announces Conversion to Equal Suffrage in the Commons.

London, August 18.—The present week brought within the range of practical politics a reform, which many of its advocates feared the war would postpone perhaps for a generation—the right of women to vote. The strongest force against the realization of woman suffrage in the years immediately preceding the war was the determined opposition of Premier Asquith, hence great surprise was caused by the virtual conversion when he said in the house of commons on Monday that the undertaking of new franchise and registration reforms in the midst of a great war was too complex and controversial a problem and when he implied that any new bill for franchise reforms in the future, must of necessity, include women.

The premier's announcement is talked on all sides as meaning that women will have the vote before another general election is fought.

According to The Nation, there have been other similar conversions among men of great influence, and that men of all parties realize the women's display of capacity and willingness to help in the national cause during the war has removed the last obstacle to their receiving political recognition.

STRUCK BY TRUCK, GIRL BADLY HURT

Miss Dena Harrell Dragged for Several Yards—Driver of Machine Not Yet Found by Police.

Miss Dena Harrell, 17 years old, of 57 Boulevard Terrace, was seriously injured yesterday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock at the corner of Boulevard Terrace and North Boulevard, when she was struck by a motor truck belonging to the Blue Valley Butter company, and dragged several yards. The truck was being driven by a negro who, it is claimed, hurried on, finally leaving the machine at the end of the Highland avenue car line. He has not yet been located by the police.

Miss Harrell was carried in a car belonging to an unknown man, to her home. At a late hour last night she had not regained consciousness, but was suffering from a series of fainting spells. It has not been yet determined whether she was injured internally or not, but both of her lower limbs were badly bruised, as well as her shoulders and arms.

"She had just dressed in a nice new suit," said her mother, "and was on her way up town with Mrs. Aurie Sego, a trained nurse, who has been attending my husband, and Mrs. Ed Norton. They were standing on the corner waiting for a car. They saw one coming and she had just stepped down from the curbing when the truck, which was being driven at about 40 miles an hour, struck her and dragged her the length of a short block. Her clothes were torn into shreds."

AUSTRALIA WATCHING ALL THE NEWCOMERS

London, August 18.—No person over 15 years old will be permitted to land in Australia after September 1 without a passport issued or approved by British authorities, it was announced today. Persons sailing from foreign countries must have passports vised by a British consul.

WILL SELL GASOLINE AT 24 CENTS A GALLON

Gewinner Asserts That No Further Reduction Will Be Made for Several Days.

Reports that gasoline prices in Atlanta would receive another cut Saturday when Johnson-Gewinner company, it was stated, would sell the product one cent below the market price of 24 cents, were denied by Mr. Gewinner Friday night.

"We are getting 24 cents per gallon now," he stated, "and we will sell for that price Saturday. Also, we expect to sell for that price for several days to come. Next week some time, I won't say definitely when, I am going to sell gasoline one cent under the market."

It is thought that in the next few days an additional reduction in price will have been announced by the companies, due to the recent reduction in the cost of crude oil. Whether or not the Johnson-Gewinner company is waiting for this is not known, but according to Mr. Gewinner, he will again start a decline in the present high prices by adopting just the tactics he used formerly.

Representatives of local companies have received directions regarding the cut in price, and the directions specifically call attention to the fact that the reduction follows the trend of the crude oil market, and is not due to the action of the Atlanta concern in under-selling the market.

WORKERS ACCEPT WILSON'S SCHEME, BUT RAIL CHIEFS SEEM TO OPPOSE

President's Plan to Avert Threatened Nation-Wide Strike Being Considered by Officials of Roads With Indications They Will Reject.

SOME HOPE IN REPORTS THAT ROADS MAY OFFER COUNTER PROPOSITION

Or That One or the Other Side Might Recede—Despite Threatening Outlook, Administration Officials Continue to Believe Agreement Will Be Reached—As Last Resort Wilson May Summon Powerful Financiers Who Control Railroads and Tell Them Strike Must Be Prevented.

Washington, August 18.—President Wilson's plan for settlement of the threatened nation-wide railroad strike was accepted today by the representatives of the employees and taken under consideration by the officials of the roads with many indications that they would reject it tomorrow. The word came from the managers tonight, however, that they had reached no definite decision.

With the situation thus apparently deadlocked, the only hope lay in reports that the railroad officials might suggest a counter proposal or that one side or the other might recede.

Rail Officials Consider Plan.

Thirty-one presidents and ranking officials of the great railroads received from the president this afternoon his plan for the adoption of an eight-hour day, regular pro-rata pay for overtime and creation of a federal commission to investigate collateral issues. They told him they would like to consider the question and would report back tomorrow with the committee of managers which has been conducting negotiations.

At the same time the general committee of 640 representatives of the employees were approving the president's plan by a large majority and soon after the railroad officials left the white house the four heads of the railroad brotherhoods notified the president of the vote. The employees' committee will remain here at the president's call.

The railroad officials revealed clearly their opposition to Mr. Wilson's plan and indicated that they would press further their offer to arbitrate. It was reported, however, the officials might suggest a counter proposal based on the acceptance of the eight-hour day and arbitration of all other points instead of the investigation by a federal commission proposed under the president's plan. It was stated positively that the officials had reached no definite decision.

Wilson May Call Financiers.

In case the president finds no hope of settlement tomorrow he will probably summon to Washington some of the powerful financiers of the country serving as directors of the railroads. Administration officials said tonight the president was determined a settlement should be reached if possible before the representatives of both sides now here leave Washington.

C. F. von HERRMANN,
Meteorologist, Weather Bureau.

In their formal statements the railroad officials insisted on arbitration on the ground that if they gave in this time it would mean the abandonment of the principle of arbitration and because they feared if they granted the eight-hour day with its consequent added expenses without resort to arbitration it would prejudice any appeal they might make later to the interstate commerce commission for higher freight rates.

On the surface the threatened strike appeared nearer today than at any time since the negotiations at the white house began, but administration officials continued to believe that eventually there would be an agreement.

The railroad presidents and officials who came here in answer to an invitation from the president, conferred with him less than an hour. After Mr. Wilson had explained his plan, Hale Holden, president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, acting as spokesman, informed the president that the officials present could speak only for their individual roads, and that the conference committee of managers was the only body with power to accept or reject proposals.

Rail Presidents Back Managers.

It was indicated plainly that the officials were inclined to stand behind the previous attitude of the managers' committee in refusing to accept the eight-hour day, and that the proposal was believed to be impracticable. The president was told, however, that the plan would be given further consideration and a report made to him tomorrow.

Mr. Wilson explained to the railroad officials that he had drawn up the plan because he thought it fair and because he believed a way must be found for averting a strike. He urged them to demonstrate a spirit of concession and to assist him in settling the controversy. Tonight the railroad officials held another long conference at their hotel.

Employees' representatives held two meetings during the day, one of several hours for speechmaking and balloting on the president's plan, and the other, a short one, for announcement of the result of the vote.

There never was a time during the day that the president's proposal could not have been rushed through the employees' meeting by a big majority.

Opposition to the plan, which was scattered, always was good natured and most of those who objected discussed effects on their immediate localities rather than probable general results.

Some of the presidents expressed the conviction tonight that the negotiations with the white house would not be concluded for several days and that each point involved would be thoroughly considered by the executive heads of the roads before any definite position is taken.

What Questions Involve.

As one railroad head pointed out tonight, the questions in issue involve the operation of 250,000 miles of railroad, one-fourth that of the entire world and their solution may have a far-reaching effect on laboring conditions throughout the United States. With 400,000 railroad men assured of an eight-hour basic working day, some of the presidents feel it would be a question of only a short time until laboring men in some of the great industrial concerns of the country would be making demands for an eight-hour day also. Echoes of this feeling are expected to reach the white house as this view is spread throughout the country.

The presidents realize that if it comes to a matter of a break with the white house some of the executives may be inclined to subordinate their convictions to President Wilson's wishes and it has been planned to have votes taken on each proposal made by him, with the understanding that a majority vote shall bind all.

Railroad men present at today's conference and white house officials declared tonight that the president had not talked of government ownership of railroads as a possibility in the future in case there is a strike.

A person in position to be familiar with the attitude of the executives outlined the position of the railroads tonight as follows:

"The position of the railroads at this time is that they are standing out for the great principle of arbitration and that they cannot surrender this principle under the threat of a strike or under pressure from any other quarter."

LOUIS HILL OPPOSES EIGHT-HOUR DAY.

St. Paul, August 18.—Louis Hill, president of the Great Northern Railroad company, tonight said that railroad, in common with other railroads in the northwest, would never accept the eight-hour day principle, as its adoption would mean receiverships for the big railroads of the country.

Whatever the outcome of the conference at Washington in which the Great Northern heads have not participated, his road would not accept the principle, Mr. Hill said, even though it had to "stand out alone against it."

GERMANS DRIVEN FROM POSITIONS

Somme region, according to the official communication issued shortly before midnight. More than 200 prisoners were taken by the British during Friday.

The statement says:

"Fighting took place this afternoon (Friday) over the whole front from Pozieres to the Somme. As a result we captured several strong enemy positions and gained ground toward Ginchy and Guillemont, taking more than 200 prisoners during the day.

"On our right the French also made progress.

"Yesterday a German aeroplane was brought down a-flame in our trenches after an air combat, and a second machine by our anti-aircraft guns. Enemy billets have been successfully bombarded at various places by our aircrafts."

GERMANS ADMIT BRITISH SUCCESS.

Berlin, August 18.—(Via London.)—The British, with several fresh divisions, launched an attack on the German lines north of the Somme and succeeded in driving back the German first line for a short distance on a narrow front southwest of Martinpuich, the war office announced today. In other sectors they were completely repulsed.

A night attack between Guillemont and Maurepas was futile and costly. The battle is still raging along the German salient to the northeast of Hardecourt.

The statement recording the operations in the Somme region is as follows:

"North of the Somme the enemy is continuing his energetic efforts regardless of heavy sacrifices. For these efforts the British brought forward several fresh divisions. Southwest of Martinpuich they succeeded on narrow front in pressing backward our first line to one situated close behind. On the other hand, they have been completely repulsed north of Pozieres and due west of Foureaux wood.

"The French again deferred their attacks to nocturnal hours and with strong forces advanced against our positions between Guillemont and Maurepas about midnight. They were repulsed with the most sanguinary losses. On the salient portion of our line northeast of Hardecourt bitter fighting has taken place, so far without a decision. The activity of the artillery on both sides continues especially violent."

Attacks by the French last night, on an extended front in the Verdun region, east of the Meuse, were repulsed all along the line except at Fleury, where fighting is still in progress, the war office also announced.

"On the right bank of the Meuse," says the official statement, "the enemy attacked in the evening on a wide front between the Thiaumont work and the Chaiptre wood. He also attacked repeatedly in the western sector of the mountain wood. At Fleury village the fighting still continues; otherwise the enemy assault has been frustrated everywhere.

"A French biplane was forced to descend on Wednesday near Nesle by our anti-aircraft guns."

ITALIANS REPULSE AUSTRIAN ATTACKS.

Rome, August 18.—(Via London.)—The war office today issued the following statement on military operations:

"On the Tretino front the enemy made persistent demonstrations with an intense bombardment on our positions. During the night an enemy raid against our trenches on the slopes of Monte Sperone was promptly repulsed by a counter attack. In the Rio Freddo valley on the Posina torrent the enemy yesterday attempted to surprise our position at Scatolari. The attempt was frustrated.

"Bombardments by hostile artillery are reported in the Adige and Posina valleys and at the head of Rio Costeana. Yesterday our batteries shelled the station at Sillian. A train was struck.

"On the upper and middle Isonzo the artillery on both sides was active. The situation in the Gorizia area and on the Carso is unchanged. We raided Villanova and Nova Vas, breaking down the hostile defense and taking some prisoners."

RUSS FORCES PUSH OVER CARPATHIANS AND ENTER HUNGARY

London, August 18.—There has been little activity on the eastern front, according to the official reports. Most of the fighting has been in the Carpathian mountain region, where both the Russians and the Austro-Germans claim to have made some slight advances. Petrograd says the Austro-Germans are attacking in Galicia, but with no success.

At one point in the Carpathians the Russians have driven across the Galician border line into Hungary. Petrograd announces the approach of Russian troops to the summit of the range near Korosmezo, which is about three miles inside Hungarian territory.

The Bulgars, with the Teutonic allies, have taken the offensive in Greco-Serbian frontier north of Saloniki, and Berlin reports the capture of the Greek town of Florina, from Serbian troops. This movement probably is in answer to the recent entente activity on the same front.

ADVANCE RESUMED BY THE RUSSIANS.

Petrograd, August 18.—(Via London.)—Austro-German effort to throw back the Russian in Galicia has resulted in great losses and met with no success, the war office announced today. The Russians have pressed forward in several sectors.

The announcement follows:

"On the front from the Zlota Lipa west to Podhaytse the enemy resumed the offensive with considerable forces, without success. The enemy sustained great losses.

"On the River Bystritza-Bolotvina we occupied Lysiets (seven miles southwest of Stanislau) on the western bank of the river. In the direction of Ardzelus our troops occupied a series of heights.

"In the region of Korosmezo (Carpathians) our troops continuing their advance, approached the summits of the mountain in the vicinity of Korosmezo.

"On the Caucasian front the Turkish offensive in the region west of Lake Van was repulsed easily by our troops. In Persia, in the region of Kala Pasova, encounters took place with considerable Turkish forces."

The official communication issued by the war office tonight says:

"The situation on the western and Caucasus front is unchanged.

"On the Baltic sea the night of the 16th a squadron of our aeroplanes, commanded by Naval Lieutenant Lichine, made a successful flight over the enemy's aviation station near Lake Angorn (off the west coast of the Gulf of Riga). The bombs dropped apparently caused great damage, destroying one hangar and setting fire to buildings at many points.

"Our aviators were subjected to a violent anti-aircraft fire, including rockets and shrapnel, but this did not prevent them accepting their task and safely regaining their base."

TURKS FIGHTING WITH AUSTRIANS.

Berlin, August 18.—(Via London.)—Official announcement that Turkish troops are fighting the Russians with the Austrians in Galicia was made today by the war office.

The statement says:

"Front of Archduke Charles Francis: Turkish troops of the army of General von Bothmer repulsed Russian attacking detachments.

"In the Carpathians we furthered our success on the Starawipczna hill. About 200 prisoners and several machine guns were captured.

"Front of Field Marshal von Hindenburg:

"Apart from a minor, but lively engagement west of Lake Nobel (sixty miles northeast of Kovel) which has not yet come to a conclusion, only unimportant advance post encounters took place.

"German aeroplanes attacked Russian destroyers and one submarine northeast of Kara Burnu with success.

"The official Russian communication of August 11 mentions the destruction of a battalion of the Third German reserve infantry regiment by machine gun fire near Monasterzyska. It is ascertained to the contrary that the battalion lost only 200 men on this occasion."

Unofficial advices within the past three weeks have reported the sending of Turkish troops in large numbers to aid the armies of the central powers on the eastern front, the total force being estimated at from 70,000 to 150,000. The greater part of them were understood to have been transferred from the Macedonian front.

BULGARS ATTACK ON BALKAN FRONT.

Berlin, August 18.—(Via London.)—The Teutonic allies have taken the offensive on the Balkan front and captured the Greek town of Florina from Serbian troops, the war office announced today.

The announcement follows:

"After the fruitless attacks of the entente powers in the last few days the allied (Teutonic) troops proceeded to deliver a counter attack. Florina has been captured after a fight with the Serbian Danube division."

Florina is five miles from the Greco-Serbian border and 15 miles southeast of Monastir. Reports from the allies of the capture of several towns are denied in Berlin and Sofia.

SHIPPING MEASURE PASSED BY SENATE

By Strict Party Vote of 38 to 21—$50,000,000 Given for Government Purchase or Operation of Ships.

Washington, August 18.—The government shipping bill passed the senate tonight by a vote of 38 to 21, ending one of the most bitterly contested legislative struggles of the Wilson administration. In the last congress the measure precipitated a democratic revolt, but, revised so as to minimize the government operation feature, the measure received today unanimous democratic support and solid republican opposition. It already has passed the house.

What Bill Provides.

The shipping bill provides for creation of a government shipping board to acquire and operate ships for rehabilitation of the American merchant marine and appropriates $50,000,000 for that purpose to be raised by the sale of Panama canal bonds.

Several important amendments were agreed to just before the final vote, among them one by Senator Hoke Smith reducing the salary of the shipping board members from $10,000 to $7,500 a year. Other amendments adopted included one by Senator Fletcher which would authorize the president to seek adjustment of foreign discrimination against American shipping through diplomatic negotiations and to take retaliatory action if such negotiations fail. Another by Senator Thomas would authorize the treasury to withhold clearance from masters of vessels who deliberately refuse to accept freight from American citizens without satisfactory reasons.

At the last minute vain efforts were made by Senator Borah to attach the immigration bill to the shipping measure.

Administration leaders are hopeful that senate amendments to the bill will be accepted by the house, where it will be submitted Tuesday, and that a conference will be unnecessary.

Shipping Board Created.

The bill as passed by the senate would create a shipping board of five commissioners appointed by the president, the house provision making the secretaries of the navy and commerce ex-officio members having been eliminated. The board would be authorized, either directly or indirectly, through a corporation or corporations to be organized, to build, purchase, lease or charter vessels suitable for use in ocean commerce.

Limitation upon these powers would prohibit the acquirement of any vessel at the time engaged in foreign or domestic commerce of the United States, unless it is to be withdrawn from such commerce by the owner without intention to return thereto within a reasonable time; the purchase of any vessel which is under registry or flag of a foreign country engaged in war, or acquirement of any vessel which would not be approved for ocean commerce without unreasonable alterations.

The bill further would authorize the shipping board to organize one or more corporations with a total capital stock not exceeding $50,000,000, the government, through the board, to subscribe for not less than a majority of the stock. The corporations would be empowered to purchase, construct, equip, charter and operate merchant vessels in the commerce of the United States. Operation of ships by the government corporations would be limited to a period of five years after the close of the European war. Actual government operation would be a last resort, not to be undertaken "unless the board shall be unable, after a bona fide effort," to lease them out.

Government May Acquire Ships.

A radical change in American merchant marine policy is provided in a senate amendment permitting government-acquired vessels, whether foreign or domestic-built, to enter the coastwise trade of the United States.

The bill would give the proposed shipping board regular authority over water carriers of the country in interstate commerce with power to regulate rates but would exempt from this regulation inland water traffic, except that on the Great Lakes. The president would be authorized to take possession for naval purposes of any vessel acquired under the act with reasonable compensation to persons dispossessed. There are many other provisions making minor changes in shipping regulations.

ACIDS IN THE SYSTEM

Acids accumulating in the system in excess, poison the blood and cause a great variety of diseases, affecting the skin and other mucous surfaces, the heart and arteries, brain and general nervous system, joints and muscles.

Some of these diseases are Rheumatism in its many forms, Catarrh, Eczema, Hives, itching and burning of the skin, dizziness, mental depression and a variety of other ailments. You must eliminate the acid from your system and purify your blood before you can be rid of your trouble.

S. S. S. has been purifying and nourishing the blood for over half a century. It is also a very efficient tonic and being purely vegetable, it is the most efficient agent known in the cleansing of the blood and toning up of the system.

Call for it at your druggists and don't accept a substitute. If special medical advice is desired write Medical Department 93, Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.

CHILD LABOR MEASURE ON ITS WAY TO WILSON

Without Debate House Accepts Bill as Amended by the Senate.

Washington, August 18.—Without debate or record vote the child labor bill was accepted by the house today with the senate amendments and put on its way to become law with President Wilson's signature.

It represents the result of years of struggle in congress between forces urging the conservation of child life and those opposing it on many grounds, chiefly that it was a question for the states and not the federal government.

It would not have become a law at this session of congress had not President Wilson, after the democratic caucus, decided to eliminate it from the administration program, visited the capitol and insisted upon its inclusion.

As it originally passed the house it proposed to bar from interstate commerce products on which child labor actually had been employed. As amended by the senate and now perfected it prohibits shipment between the states of all products of any establishment which employs child labor.

It bars products of any mine or quarry employing children under sixteen and products of any mill, cannery, workshop, factory or manufacturing establishment employing children under fourteen, or which employs children between fourteen and sixteen more than eight hours a day, more than six days a week or earlier than 6 o'clock in the morning or later than 7 o'clock in the evening.

It becomes effective one year after the date of the president's approval.

Opposition to the bill was led by southern congressmen and its sponsors charged cotton mill owners with being the principal objectors.

REV. WALLACE RETURNS

From Successful Revival Held at Hogansville.

Rev. Hugh Wallace, pastor of the South Side Baptist church, of this city, has returned home after assisting Dr. B. J. W. Graham in a successful revival meeting at the Hogansville Baptist church. Mr. Wallace will be in his pulpit here Sunday morning and evening.

In speaking of the Hogansville revival, he said: "There was a fine spirit all through the meeting. I tried to preach in such a way as to win the people of Hogansville to the Truth instead of driving them from it. On the night that I preached on 'The Prodigal Daughter,' nearly one hundred of the choicest women and girls of Hogansville came forward and publicly pledged their opposition to the round dance. On last Sunday night the largest number of people ever known to join that church at a single service, united. The business men of the city showed their interest in the meeting by closing their doors for the morning services."

WILSON PUTS VETO ON ARMY MEASURE

Because of Provision Hay Slipped In Exempting Retired Officers From Discipline—Hay Fights Army:

Washington, August 18.—The army appropriation bill was unexpectedly vetoed today by President Wilson because he would not accept certain provisions in the revision of the articles of war, forced into the bill by the house conferees and commonly said in army circles to be in the interest of certain retired officers "at outs" with the army.

There have been broad intimations that the revision which proposed to remove retired officers from the jurisdiction of courts-martial was in the interest of a certain retired officer who was waiting for a time when he would be immune from discipline to make a public attack on the army.

The officer whose name was mentioned in connection with the report was, while in service, very active in legislative affairs; was very close to congressmen framing army bills, and until his retirement was reckoned with as a power in legislation affecting the army.

Hay and Senate in Fight.

Chairman Hay, of the house military committee, at once reintroduced the bill with the entire section revising the articles of war stricken out and the declaration that no revision at all would go through with the bill in this congress.

Chairman Chamberlain, of the senate military affairs committee, announced that the senate would reinsert the revision approved by the president and the war department, but stricken out in the house, and the situation had resolved itself into a contest between the senate and house on one hand and Mr. Hay on the other.

The tangle theratens to delay the adjournment of congress and incidentally completion of the preparedness program, as well as to hold up appropriations for the army increases and all the extra expenses involved in the Mexican service.

The bill as reintroduced now is in the house military committee, and there is an agreement to take it up and expedite passage Tuesday. The fight, if one develops, will come when the senate puts in a revision of the articles of war and sends it back to the senate.

The president's veto, one of the few he has exercised, marks another stage in the long fight between the army and Chairman Hay. The army charges Hay with defeat of the continental army and universal training plans and the substitution of national guard reorganization which it opposed. Army officers also say certain features of the bill were injected in conference and never were debated on the floor of either house.

Hay's Last Term.

Only the force of President Wilson's interference put the regular army increase in the new reorganization bill through the house in the face of Hay's opposition.

Recently President Wilson appointed Hay to a judgeship on the court of claims and he now is serving his last term in congress.

The war department contends that many features of the army bill were written into it in the conference and never were debated in house or senate.

The articles of war have not been revised in a hundred years and are said to be sadly deficient for dealing with conditions which growth of the army and development of the nation require. The war department is especially anxious for changes to enable army officers to deal adequately with problems arising during the present Mexican service. Included in the revision marked out by congress, over the objection of the president and the war department was a provision exempting retired officers from courts-martial and army discipline, if not actually from army control and placed them under the jurisdiction of the civil courts. It is common understanding among army officers that the section covered the case of a certain retired officer, formerly regarded as a power in shaping military legislation who was preparing to write a book and hesitated to do it while liable to discipline.

The president in his veto, however, made no reference to this phase of the situation.

FERRIOT IS CHARGED WITH CHEATING POLICE

Cheating and swindling is the charge brought against Henry C. Ferriot by three men on the Atlanta police force, who claim that Ferriot has swindled them out of over $7,000 within the last three years. The story centers around a certain scheme for the improvement of a south Georgia road.

The policemen claim that he led them to believe that he had purchased three engines, twenty-five coaches and seventy-five miles of 60-pound rail from W. J. Oliver, a Knoxville contractor, and that some of the material was already on its way to south Georgia. They therewith contributed a certain sum to Ferriot. Before this the policemen claim that they had contributed from $100 to $300 on business transactions, which had failed to bring dividends.

It is claimed that Ferriot is a notable schemer, having operated in several southern cities, making money with his get-rich-quick schemes. Warrants are out for him in a number of cities, say the policemen.

"The Universal Ice Company" was Ferriot's first venture here, the accusers claim, which he organized in Atlanta in 1913. They allege that he sold stock to a large number of Atlantans. He had an alibi when the company became defunct, which was not contested, and the defendant immediately proposed new schemes to which they once more contributed. This plan, they claim, was to organize a road with a big sounding name. He showed his alleged victims a charter, claiming that he was being backed by New York capitalists, according to their statement.

LARCENY AFTER TRUST CHARGED TO STERNBERG

A wire was received yesterday by Chief Deputy Sheriff, John Owens, from the chief of police of Norfolk, Va., saying that Nathan Sternberg had been arrested and was being held in Norfolk for Atlanta authorities on a charge of larceny after trust. C. G. Smith is also being held there for forgery. He is said to have been a partner of Sternberg in the produce firm here on Alabama street, known as "The Imperial Produce company," which was ordered closed by the courts.

Information from Sheriff Mangum, who goes to Norfolk after Smith, indicated that the requisition of Governor Harris would be fought by Smith in an effort to obtain his freedom through a habeas corpus writ or some other method. It is believed that Sternberg will also fight the effort to bring him back here. The proceedings against Sternberg were instituted by H. L. Singer & Co.

Pinkerton detectives succeeded in tracing Smith to Norfolk, and Sternberg was arrested following efforts of Chief Deputy Owen.

DRASTIC FIGHT URGED ON INFANTILE PARALYSIS

National Health Conference Fears That Disease May Appear Next Summer.

Washington, August 18.—With a warning that unless measures are found for its suppression, the infantile paralysis epidemic may advance next summer to states not now appreciably affected, the national conference of health officers adjourned today after adopting recommendations for control of the plague and naming a standing committee to study its causes.

Co-operation among federal, state and local health authorities toward curbing the epidemic was emphasized as imperative in resolutions adopted and regulations were recommended to control travel from epidemic zones of children 16 years of age and under by issuance of uniform travel permits and notification of their destinations, but without an interstate quarantine.

Delegates to the conference who included health officers from forty states and many experts of the public health service, expressed confidence tonight that the two days' exchange of views upon all aspects of the baffling disease would result in vitalizing the campaign against it.

Doctors in the Dark.

Assistant Surgeon General Rucker, who presided over the conference, made the following statement tonight:

"We have admitted frankly and freely to the public that we have something we don't know a great deal about and the public sympathizes with our efforts to do whatever we can with the limited knowledge we have. We can't afford to leave any stone unturned.

"The great bulk of the traveling public, presumably not exposed, should not be hampered until we know which persons are actually disease-carriers."

Dr. Glenn Andrews, of Alabama, said the conference was groping in the dark in promulgating even advisory suggestions.

"I'm going home and tell my folks we don't know a thing about it," said Mr. Andrews.

In recommending restriction of travel of children under 16 years from known epidemic areas, the conference expressed its belief that no more advanced step toward interstate quarantine measures should be taken with the present limited knowledge of the methods of transmission.

The standing committee appointed consists of Surgeons C. H. Lavinder and Wade Frost, of the public health service; Dr. D. T. Tuttle, of Washington state; Dr. C. St. Clair Drake, of Illinois, and Dr. Oscar Dowling, of Louisiana. They will collect and distribute information regarding the disease.

A committee report recommending uniform methods of exchange of epidemic information was also adopted.

Representatives of railroads have requested a special conference with public health service officials to discuss co-operation in regulating the travel of children. Such a meeting probably will be arranged within the next two weeks.

FUNSTON IS SILENT ABOUT WITHDRAWAL OF TROOPS IN MEXICO

San Antonio, Texas, August 18.—General Funston tonight declined to discuss a report that he had recommended the withdrawal of the American troops in Mexico. Asked if he had made any recommendation in the matter, he said:

"I will not even say whether any communication whatever concerning the subject has passed between me and Washington."

Asked if he cared to deny the report, the general said:

"I do not. It is a matter that concerns only the war department and me and I won't discuss it."

THREE AUTO THEFTS REPORTED TO POLICE

Three automobiles were reported stolen yesterday to the police. A Ford car belonging to the Atlanta Baggage and Cab company was reported stolen Thursday night from in front of the Capital City club. The number on it was 1,642. H. W. Dillard, of 178 St. Charles avenue, reported the theft of a two-passenger Ford car, with a license number 17,744, 1916. It was stolen while standing on the Broad street viaduct. Another five-passenger Ford car was reported stolen from in front of the Grady monument about 9 o'clock Thursday night, belonging to G. W. Dobbs, of Gainesville, Ga.

ENZOR TO FACE CHARGE OF SELLING NARCOTICS

Dr. R. H. Enzor, 28 years old, who has been staying at the Ansley hotel, was arrested last night by Federal Officers Whatley, Froneberger and Hamrick, and brought to police headquarters, where he is being held on a charge of suspicion. He is charged with violating the Harrison narcotic act by selling narcotics. It is claimed that an amount of morphine and cocaine was found as evidence.

SOUTHERN METHODISTS TO WORK IN THE CONGO

Asheville, N. C., August 18.—Five missionaries for Congo, Central Africa, were consecrated today at the triennial conference of the laymen's missionary movement, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in session at Lake Junaluska. They are E. B. Stilz, Nashville; Dr. Hugh G. White, Texas; Rev. T. L. Reeve, Georgia; Rev. H. P. Anker, Illinois, and Miss Ethel Mills, Virginia. Ordination services were conducted by Bishop James Atkins, of Waynesville.

Addresses were delivered by Dr. Harvey Reeves, of Chicago; Dr. W. E. Geil, John R. Pepper of Memphis, Dr. F. C. Gordon, New York; Dr. James Cannon, superintendent of the Southern Methodist assembly project, and Bishop Atkins.

Copra Embargo Lifted.

Washington, August 18.—The limited embargo on copra from British possessions has been removed after several months negotiations. Copra is largely used in glycerine and is imported from Australia, New Zealand, Samoa and the Fiji islands.

Uniform Lading Bill Passed.

Washington, August 18.—The uniform bill of lading was perfected by congress today and sent to the president. The senate concurred in the house amendment.

Society

Labor Day at East Lake.

The East Lake Country club will give a lawn dinner-dance on Labor day. The dinner will be served on the lawn next to the dancing terrace, and the lawn as well as the terrace will be decorated with Japanese lanterns and attractive favors will be used. The program will be announced later as the committee is working on something new and a pleasant surprise is in store for those who attend the dinner. The members of the Capital City, Druid Hills and the Piedmont Driving clubs will be invited.

Music at First Baptist.

An unusually attractive program will be presented at the First Baptist church on Sunday under the direction of J. P. O'Donnelly, organist.

The sextet from "Lucia" will be rendered by the choir, and the trio from "Faust" will be sung by Miss Crenshaw, Mr. Drukenmiller and Mr. Harrower.

At the evening service Miss Crenshaw will sing "Jerusalem" from Gounod's "Gallia."

The trio from "Lombardi" for soprano, tenor and baritone will be sung by Miss Crenshaw, Mr. Drukenmiller and Mr. Harrower.

(Adaptation of the above numbers to sacred words by Mr. O'Donnelly.)

Matinee Party.

A delightful matinee party was given at the Forsyth Friday by Miss Irene Kane in honor of Miss Christine Bibb, of Waycross, Ga., and Miss Rosaline Knox, of Greenwood, Miss.

The party consisted of Miss Bibb, Miss Knox, Miss Mamie Tyler Walker, Miss Annie de Jarnette, Miss Ruth Harrison, Miss Willie Davis Farnsworth, Miss Jessie Macon of Birmingham, Ala., Miss Bessie La Hatte, Miss Mary Taylor, Miss Marjorie Taylor and Miss Mae McMillan.

Capital City Club.

Among the guests at the dinner-dance Thursday evening at the Capital City club were:

Atlanta Ad Men Will Hold Annual Picnic At Fair Grounds Friday

Members of the Ad Men's club, with their families and friends, will hold an annual picnic on the Southeastern fair grounds next Friday, according to arrangements made yesterday at the meeting of the executive committee of that organization. A program, promising all sorts of good times, has been arranged by Fred Paxon, chairman.

The meeting Friday was the first that the present executive committee has held, and plans outlining the work for the coming year were made. Among other things, the club is to begin an "educational campaign" of advertising in local papers, the advertisements to appear twice a week, setting forth the objects and the work of the club.

"The club," stated Mr. Paxon, "is in the best of financial conditions. Our report shows every bill paid and a comfortable balance in the treasury. We are going to expand our work this coming year, and the whole idea will be to educate the people, merchants and dealers, in the advantages of properly handled advertising matter."

Dillard Jacobs, a member of the committee, made an address on the subject of advertising and the work of the club. Others present at the meeting were Phil C. McDuffie, president; Fred Paxon, J. H. Atchison, W. W. Orr, Hubert Anderson, Richard Rice and Julian Boehm.

MEETING OF SECRETARIES

Commercial Secretaries in Conference at Macon..

Edward Young Clarke, secretary-manager of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, has called a conference of a number of leading commercial secretaries of the state to meet with him in Macon at 10 o'clock on Monday, the 21st, in the office of Secretary W. H. C. Johnson, of the Macon Chamber of Commerce. Matters of vital importance to commercial work of the state are to be discussed.

Among those who will probably be in attendance at the meting are: H. A. Wheeling, Rome; L. Lombard Brinson, Augusta; Walter C. Cooper, Atlanta; J. A. Mock, Albany; Lester C. Busch, Thomasville; Leland J. Henderson, Columbus, and W. B. Royster, Griffin.

Among the things to be discussed will be the importance of the personnel of the secretarial force of the state and the importance of conditions surrounding the work of the average secretary. The conference will probably last all day Monday and may run into Tuesday.

"SOME CANTALOUPES."

First Shipment of T. M. & G. Beauties Here.

The first car of T. M. & G. cantaloupes, a well-flavored variety, was received in Atlanta recently by the John T. Leonard & Sons, brokers.

These cantaloupes are from Turlock, California, the second largest cantaloupe shipping point in the United States. They were ripe before being shipped and are all of uniform quality.

The local staff of The Constitution enjoyed a crate of the cantaloupes and to a man pronounce them 'some cantaloupes."

BIG COUNTY ROAD JOBS PROGRESSING RAPIDLY

The Concrete Work Will Begin Next Monday Morning on Lakewood Avenue.

Pouring of concrete will begin next Monday in connection with the paving of Lakewood avenue, from Stewart avenue to the East Point road, a distance of about a mile and a half. The improvement is being made under county contract by the Pitman Construction company, under an $18,500 contract.

The Dysard Construction company, having the county contract for the zoo drive paving job, the board of public works announced Friday, also will begin its concrete work Monday morning. This contract is for approximately $7,800.

Other big road paving jobs under way and which are progressing rapidly toward completion are the Hightower road, $28,000; the Mayson and Turner road, $37,000, and the East Pace's Ferry road, $7,800. The total amount of the five paving contracts now being worked upon is about $99,000.

Work is progressing on the Riverside drive grading job, where a giant steam shovel is at work, and early in the week an engine, a train of grading cars will be installed upon the work.

The board of public works has announced that the county's work upon the race track at Lakewood will be completed by September 1.

POLICE SHARPSHOOTER.

Officer Hutchens Stops Auto With Pistol Shot.

Refusing to stop when ordered by the police to do so, early yesterday morning C. Hutchens, who was rapidly driving out Georgia avenue, had a tire of his automobile punctured by a bullet from the gun of Officer Cason.

When the defendant appeared before the recorder he was fined $5.75 for drunk and disorderly conduct ,and for reckless driving of an auto.

AMUSEMENTS

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Amelia Stone and Armand Kalisz in "Ma'amzelle Caprice," a dandy operetta with book by Edgar Allan Woolf and music and lyrics by Mr. Kalisz, is announced by Manager George Hickman as top feature of next week's Keith vaudeville bill at the Forsyth.

This week's program features Toots Paka and her troupe of Hawaiian singers and instrumentalists; Idania troupe; lady gymnasts; Helene Hamilton and Jack Barnes, in a comedy turn; Bessie Rempel and players in an unusual sketch; Savoy and Brennan in "On the Rialto;" Jalian Fose, character comedian and the Breen family in dances, spiced with comedy juggling.

Good Show Closes.

(At the Piedmont.)

The bill that has been packing 'em in at the Piedmont all the week, closes its engagement in Atlanta tonight, and this would be cause for a howl on the part of the amusement lovers if the management of the popular variety didn't have something even more entertaining booked here for next week. The new show is clever, according to the management, and will be given its first Atlanta presentation Monday afternoon.

Today Atlantans have their last chance to see Billie Burke in "The Midnight Riot;" Emerson & Celeste, the flying Lamars; Kingsley and Roberts and Claire Hanson, and other features. "The Innocence of Ruth" will also be seen in this city for the last time today. This film has been accorded a genuinely sincere reception by the picture-goers.

Marguerite Clark.

Marguerite Clarke will be seen in one of the greatest classics of the screen at the Alamo No. 2 today. The picture, "Seven Sisters," deals with the efforts of a widow in a typical Hungarian town to marry off her seven daughters, which is a much more serious and ceremonious matter in Hungary than it could ever be in this country. Out of her struggles to find them husbands, according to their ages, to keep the younger ones out of sight until their elder sisters are properly disposed of, and assume the appearance of adequate youth in all of them, arises the fun of this excruciatingly humorous photoplay.

"River of Romance."

(At the Strand.)

Harold Lockwood and May Allison will be seen today in "The River of Romance," a Metro wonderpicture that is said to have the most beautiful scenery and effects of any picture yet released. This is a repeat showing of this great production, but if one has seen it only once they will welcome an opportunity to see it again; those who have not seen it will miss a rare treat if they miss the opportunity. The picture was made on Thousand Islands, where the most marvelous effects are the gifts of nature. It has a humor that begins in the first scene and remains throughout the entire production, and it leaves a wholesome good taste in the mouth.

Marguerite Clark.

(At the Georgian.)

"Silks and Satins," the delightfully charming romance in which little Marguerite Clark is being starred by the Famous Players Film company on the Paramount program, is a reflection of every youthful dream that was ever dreamed. For in this thrilling breath from another day, which is the feature of the Georgian theater today, dainty little Miss Clark is transported to the romantic days of the past through the medium of an old diary which she finds on the eve of her intended wedding to Felix Breton.

In addition "See America First," a beautiful scenic production, will be shown.

THE MOVIES TODAY

VAUDETTE—Warren Kerrigan in "The Beckoning Trail."

CRITERION—H. B. Warner in "Shell 43."

STRAND—Harold Lockwood and May Allison in "The River of Romance."

PIEDMONT—Viola Dana in "The Innocence of Ruth;" Billie Burke in "The Midnight Riot." Vaudeville.

GEORGIAN—Marguerite Clarke in "Silks and Satins;" Seeing America First."

ALPHA—Ben Wilson and Dorothy Phillips in "The Marriage Broker;" "The Silent Stranger," drama; "Some Medicine Man."

SAVOY—Cleo Madison in "The Guilty One;" Pokes and Jabs in "Comrades;" Helen Gibson in "With the Aid of Wreckers."

ALAMO NO. 2—Marguerite Clarke in "Seven Sisters."

VICTORIA—"The Conspiracy."

"RACE SUICIDE" IS PURE AND WHOLESOME

"Race Suicide," which will be presented in Atlanta at the Grand theater all next week, has drawn immense audiences everywhere it has been seen and the promoters of the big film expect it to prove a great drawing card at the Grand.

The run of the picture in Atlanta will begin Monday morning at 10 o'clock, it having been decided to open the house at this time every day during the week. Ormi Hawley and Earl Metcalfe, two well-known screen performers, will be seen in the leading roles in the production.

"Race Suicide" is pure and wholesome in sentiment and deals with one of the most widely-discussed problems of the day—birth control. The picture has received the earnest indorsement of workers in many cities in the country.

Maternal and paternal instincts are vividly portrayed in the film. The release is in six parts and special music will be played throughout the picture's run. It is expected that the production will draw the largest crowds of the year to the Grand.

"MINUTE" SERVICE FOR FORD OWNERS

Service Garages and Retail Sales Stations Will Be Established — Changes Will Be Made in Car.

In order to give "minute" service to users of Ford cars, the Ford Motor company is now establishing branch sales agencies and service garages in every district of Atlanta and environs, according to an announcement made yesterday by R. Stuart Abbott, general manager of the Ford factory and southern headquarters at 465 Ponce de Leon avenue.

"We are ordering thousands of dollars' worth of machinery and stock with which to equip these service garages and retail sales stations," stated Mr. Abbott.

"The Ford Motor company has always held to the primary rule that service is the basis of all success. The present move is a broadening of the service end of the company."

Discontinue Retail Sales Agency.

With the announcement of the establishment of service stations that will honey-comb Atlanta and environs, Mr. Abbott also announced the discontinuing of the retail sales agency at the Ford plant on Ponce de Leon avenue.

"All of our salesmen, who have been trained as experts," continued Mr. Abbott, "have been given branch contracts, and will be in charge of the service garages."

The Ford Motor company will soon begin assembling their new car. Mr. Abbott stated he had no definite information as to the changes that will be made in the new car to be manufactured by Henry Ford.

However, it is understood that the new car will contain many essential changes from the present Ford machine. From what can be learned from talk along automobile row the new Ford will have a long, curved, radiator hood, very similar to that of the Hudson, instead of the present square hood. It is also understood an attractive change will be made in the fenders. The engine, however, will remain the same as it is considered by Ford experts that no improvements can be made in this feature.

Will Assemble Cars Soon.

Just when the new Ford machines will be turned out is not known, but it is thought that they will be assembled within the next fifteen or twenty days.

"We will have all the local service garages equipped within two weeks," stated Mr. Abbott. "Any user of a Ford car will be able to get quick service at any of these stations, which will be equipped in every detail."

Service and sales stations will be established in Buckhead, Decatur, East Point, Whitehall street (at present Whitehall garage), and Inman Park. Also two downtown stations somewhere on Peachtree street will be established, with one probably on Marietta street. As more stations are needed they will be supplied.

New prices for Ford cars were advertised some time ago.

POLICE GREET CANDLER.

Candidate Pays Visit to City Police Station.

When Asa G. Candler visited police headquarters yesterday morning he created a sensation with his broad smile and cordial ways. He made no speech, but spoke to the men individually, thanking those who expressed their appreciation of him and their intention to vote for him. He was warmly greeted.

CHARTERS GRANTED.

Judge Pendleton Grants Charters to Two Concerns.

Judge J. T. Pendleton, of the Fulton county superior court, yesterday granted charters to the following:

Martin and Harry May, local jewelers, to be known as May Brothers, Incorporated; to A. H. Murrell and M. A. Cooley, for the Southern Saxon company. The Law Brothers company was granted the right to change its name to E. J. Perkerson company.

May Brothers, Incorporated, is capitalized at $25,000.

OTHER CITIES PRAISE ACTION OF CANDLER

Returning from a lecture trip of several weeks through Texas and Missouri, William D. Upshaw, editor of The Golden Age, brings the news that the eyes of all that section are on Atlanta and the prospect of having such a man as Asa G. Candler for mayor.

"You would be surprised," declared Mr. Upshaw, "to note how widely over America the people take interest in Atlanta and her municipal affairs. Frankly, a loyal Atlantan who deals with the public has had a frequent scrap on his hands during recent years because of the criticisms that come when Atlanta's administration is mentioned.

"But now since the papers have carried the news that Asa G. Candler, the foremost private citizen, not only of Atlanta, but of the entire south, is about to be mayor of Atlanta, you can hear enthusiastic commendation on every side."

FAIR WEATHER TODAY, DECLARES FORECASTER

Fair Saturday, is the forecast for today. Continued warm weather for this section is predicted for the next several days. The extreme heat of Friday morning was dispelled in the afternoon when a shower came up about 5 o'clock.

Temperatures ranged from 90 degrees, the highest, to 78 degrees, the lowest for the day.

A tropical storm is due to enter the coast line near Galveston in the next day. Temperatures are very high over the Mississippi valley and gulf states. Very little rain occurred during the past twenty-four hours at any of the nearby stations.

SEABOARD WILL USE TERMINAL STATION

The Seaboard Air Line begins this morning to use the Terminal station for the arrival and departure of all passenger trains on the road. The state railroad commission gave the Seaboard an order to use the Terminal instead of the old Union station, which it has used up to this time. The change in stations does not cause a change in the train schedule. The commission heard representatives of the road on the petition to change stations last week.

LET'S REDEEM ATLANTA, SAYS WALTER ANDREWS

Prominent Attorney Speaks for Candler — Holmes Has Done Good Work.

Walter P. Andrews, prominent local attorney and a member of the Fulton county delegation in the last legislature, addressed a crowd of men which filled the room to capacity at the Asa G. Candler headquarters yesterday at noon. Forrest Adair presided, and the candidate himself was present, but did not speak.

Mr. Andrews spoke only fifteen minutes, and he made an unmistakable impression. He said that his legislative duties had thus far kept him out of the Candler campaign, but he declared that from now until the election is over he proposes devoting practically his entire time to the work of helping in "the redemption of Atlanta through the election of the south's and Atlantas foremost citizen, Asa G. Candler."

"It is a pity," he said, "that anybody should put himself in the way of such a man's election by a unanimous vote. Right now is when Atlanta needs Mr. Candler," he went on to say, 'and all of us—everybody—ought to get together, and from this day on bend every effort, concertedly, to the one purpose, and that is Mr. Candler's election, by as nearly a unanimous vote as possible. There is no possibility for a doubt about his election: the only question is one of by what majority."

Holmes Does Good Work.

The fact became known for the first time at yesterday's noon meeting that early in the campaign T. C. Holmes, a real estate dealer, strictly on his own account, undertook to reach and speak to every working man in every Atlanta factory or shop, in Mr. Candler's behalf, and it is said he has addressed the employees of practically all of such industrial establishments at impromptu noonday meetings.

His success is said to have been surprising, his work having been productive of much good in the way of creating an interest among the working men in Mr. Candler's behalf and in removing to a great extent whatever prejudice may have been lain against him. When Mr. Holmes' activities were made known at yesterday's meeting the committee and Mr. Candler himself were taken entirely by surprise.

COMMITTEE WILL WORK FOR FARM LOAN BANK

A committee of leading men will be appointed by President V. H. Kriegshaber, of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, to procure the federal farm loan bank for Atlanta. This follows the decision of the directors of the chamber to get the bank installed here.

Members of the committee will be men who are thoroughly familiar with the farm loan idea, and after investigating the best inducements which Atlanta can offer for the location of the bank, they will present those inducements to the federal committee which decides on the location. This committee will come to Atlanta on its tour to investigate conditions in the several cities which want the bank.

SINGING CONVENTION TO MEET ON SUNDAY

The first annual song service of the Georgia singing convention will be held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Second Baptist church, Washington and East Mitchell streets. The program will consist of solos, quartets, illustrated songs and congregational singing, led by a large orchestra. The program is free to all.

Eczema on Scalp —Awful Irritation
Resinol Soon Healed It Entirely

Mar. 28: "I had a severe case of eczema on my head. My scalp itched and burned and was full of scabs, and when I scratched that would of course pull off the scabs and left my head very sore. The irritation was something awful. I could not keep my hands out of my head. My hair became very dry and harsh and did not feel like there was any life in it. The first application of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap soothed the scalp wonderfully, and after using one jar of Resinol Ointment and three cakes of Resinol Soap my head is entirely cured—I can rest peacefully and there is no more itching. My temples were almost clean of hair and now they are covered thickly. I must say Resinol is simply wonderful for almost any kind of skin trouble. It does all you say and more." (Signed) Mrs. Jennie E. Wheeler, 120 Woodridge Pl., Leonia, N. J.

WRIGHT TELLS WHY REVISION IS ASKED

Georgia Intrastate Freight Rates Abnormally Low, Says General Freight Agent Wright, of Central.

That Georgia intrastate freight rates are abnormally low, and that if the proposed revision is granted the Georgia rates would still be lower in many instances than corresponding rates in other and adjoining states, was the statement of N. B. Wright, general freight agent of the Central of Georgia railroad, who yesterday completed his testimony for the carriers before the state railroad commission in the hearing upon the petition of the carriers for revision of Georgia's intrastate tariffs.

Mr. Wright further stated that chief among the considerations of the railroads in asking for this revision is that of relieving present inequalities and discriminations in the rates between points in Georgia and between points in Georgia and points out of this state, the remedying of which would give every town in Georgia, large or small, an equal basis, in so far as freight rates are concerned, to compete, not only with each other, but with cities outside this state.

Would Offer Competition.

In this connection it was pointed out that the conditions now existing and much complained of under the strongly competitive rates existing from Nashville and from Virginia cities into Georgia would be eliminated, and that towns in this state will find themselves able to compete on a fair basis with these out-of-the-state cities. He further stated that the proposed revision will bring about rates whereby Rome and other cities in the northern and central part of the state will be able to compete with eastern markets which have water transportation in Savannah and other south Atlantic ports.

Following the close of his testimony, Mr. Wright was cross-examined at the afternoon session by Attorney W. A. Wimbish, representing the Georgia Shippers' association. At the close of the cross-examination, Randall Clifton, assistant general freight agent of the Southern railway, took the stand in behalf of the carriers, setting forth in part the policy which the railroads propose to pursue in fixing such rates as the commission may grant and giving reasons for asking such revisions. He had been on the stand but a few moments when the electrical storm of Friday afternoon put the lights of the senate chamber, where the hearing is being held, out of commission, and Chairman C. M. Candler, of the railroad commission, adjourned the hearing until Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. There will be no afternoon session Saturday.

At Friday morning's session Mr. Wright, continuing his testimony of Thursday afternoon, compared the proposed scale of class rates in Georgia with the present class scales applying to the Central of Georgia in Alabama, and between points in Alabama and Georgia, and between points in Georgia and Alabama. He showed that not only the present rates in Georgia, but the proposed scale of rates to be applied in Georgia, are lower on an average than the existing rates in Alabama. He showed that while the rates on many commoditdies in Alabama have been made the same as in Georgia, that outside of 110 commodities, rates on which were made the same by statute in Alabama as in Georgia, that the rates on other commodities in Alabama are higher, generally speaking, than the proposed rates in Georgia.

Tells Purpose of Revision.

He explained the purposes of the proposed revision of rates in Georgia as follows:

First. So that the rates between points in Georgia would conform to the long and short haul principles prescribed by the interstate commerce commission for interstate rates into and out of Georgia, under which discriminations between points of origin and destination were removed.

Second. To remove the discriminations between intrastate rates in Georgia and interstate rates into Georgia, where the intrastate rates in Georgia on many commodities are very materially higher than rates on the same commodities from points outside of Georgia into Georgia, and also to bring about a better relation between the rates in Georgia and the intrastate rates in other nearby states.

Third. To remove the discriminations in Georgia, in rates between the larger cities as against the smaller cities and to have the same inbound and outbound rates apply throughout Georgia alike.

Fourth. To revise and seek increases in some of the instances where the rates on certain commodities in Georgia, such as brick, fertilizers, apples, lumber, watermelons and live stock are at present so very low that they do not contribute a proper proportion to the earnings of the carriers or bear a proper proportion of the expense of operation.

Fifth. To adopt the southern classification in Georgia, except where otherwise provided in the petition of the carriers, in order to remove discriminations between the classification applying on articles moving into Georgia as compared with the same articles moving between points in Georgia.

Must Increase Some Rates.

Mr. Wright stated that no such readjustment could be made without increasing rates between points where they are now very low, and without reducing rates where they are relatively higher. He stated that to level the rates to the previously existing basing rates would bankrupt the railroads of Georgia. He explained the basis for the proposed revision of rates in Georgia and stated that there had long been complaints on the part of Atlanta and other Georgia points with respect to the rates from Nashville and Virginia cities into Georgia, and that under the proposed readjustment the rates in Georgia for equal distance would be no higher than the highly competitive rates from Nashville or the Virginia cities into Georgia or into the southeast.

For instance, it was cited, the first-class rate from Nashville, Tenn., to Atlanta, Ga., a distance of 289 miles, is 80 cents, and that the same rate has been applied from Savannah, Ga., to Atlanta, a distance of 294 miles, and this first-class rate of 80 cents from Nashville to Atlanta, as an illustration, has been used as a measure of the first-class rate, generally speaking, throughout the state.

Mr. Wright also explained that from the Ohio river cities and the west, under the orders of the interstate commerce commission, the carriers carried lower interstate rates to Savannah and to south Atlantic ports than to intermediate points, in order to enable western markets to compete at the ports with the eastern markets reaching these south Atlantic ports by water, and that in order to enable Rome, Atlanta, Macon and points throughout the state also to compete at Savannah and the south Atlantic ports with the eastern markets lower rates have been established for the same distances to Savannah and to Brunswick than in the opposite direction or between points not so situated.

Between Points in Georgia.

Mr. Wright explained that between points in Georgia, generally speaking, the mileage scale of the short line between the points fixed the rate, and that other routes to the same point of destination met this rate and carried no higher rate to any intermediate point, except where the distance was unduly circuitous, exceeding the distance via the short line by more than 15 per cent.

Mr. Wright also showed that under the proposed readjustment the relation between a great many cities in Georgia has been maintained; for instance, that the A., B. & A. will have its rails directly from Atlanta to Thomasville and that nearby cities, such as Valdosta, Quitman, Boston, Cairo and Bainbridge could only be reached from Atlanta over routes of two or more lines, and that, in these instances, the short line mileage scale of the A., B. & A. had been adopted by the carriers and the rates made the same as to Thomasville, although combination of the rates would be higher. This would result, he said, in materially lowering rates from the upper part of the state to many cities in the lower part of the state.

Wright Cross-Examined.

At the close of Mr Wright's testimony at the afternoon session, Attorney Wimbish put Mr. Wright under a cross-examination with the idea of showing that certain of the testimony submitted to the commission was misleading; that one of the principal considerations of the railroads is that of increasing their revenues; the condition of the railroads today is such that the roads do not need an increase in revenues.

Mr. Wimbish desired to know of Mr. Wright whether he thought the body of the rates today ought to be as high as the rates for 1880, which was the first schedule of rates issued by the Georgia commission.

Mr. Wright replied that his unfamiliarity with conditions under which the 1880 rates were fixed precluded him from an opinion as to whether those rates would be just for today.

In reply to a query Mr. Wright stated that he believes Georgia rates today, in instances, are abnormally low.

Mr. Wimbish asked if the commission, in 1890, or thereabouts, did not increase the rates for the Central of Georgia and some of the other carriers 20 per cent above the standard tariff, and whether or not this did not increase the Central's revenue.

Mr. Wright replied that this increase, along with certain other revisions, probably did increase the revenue of the Central, and that it was likely that the purpose of asking the changes at that time was to increase the revenue.

Reviews Rate Changes.

Mr. Wimbish had Mr. Wright review the changes made in Georgia rates in the past.

Mr. Wimbish asked whether it were not true that the reason the roads in 1893, or thereabouts, desired and got an increase in revenues by revision of rates was that the railroads were at that time under financial stress.

Mr. Wright replied in the affirmative.

Mr. Wimbish then desired to know whether the railroads today are not in better financial condition than in 1893, and, if so, what is the necessity for increasing rates today.

Mr. Wright replied that it is true that the general condition of railroads today is better than in 1893, but that the increases granted at that time were inadequate, and that there have been many reductions in rates since that year.

Mr. Wimbith attempted to get Mr. Wright to admit that certain high rates which he had submitted, as having been granted a number of years ago by the commission, to the commission in his testimony, were not going rates, and that an impression that they were would be misleading. Mr. Wright replied that he had submitted these figures to the commission, giving the source of his information, and that the commission might accept or reject the authenticity of the source as it saw fit.

In reply to an inquiry as to whether the Central of Georgia was coerced into a reduction of rates in 1905, Mr. Wright replied that the reductions were the result of a compromise between the road and the railroad commission.

Why He Claimed Increase.

Mr. Wimbish asked Mr. Wright if he claimed, by reason of having been coerced into a reduction, the right to ask for an increase.

Mr. Wright stated that he had made no such claim.

Mr. Wimbish asked what influence a possible increase in revenue had upon the railroads in bringing their present petition.

Mr. Wright stated that he had felt for a number of years that rates were too low in Georgia and that there ought to be an increase. He said that he did not know what would be the increase in revenues to the railroads if the prayed rates weer granted, but that the roads were obliged to have more revenue and that some of the proposed rates would bring in an increase in revenues.

Mr. Wimbish asked to what extent the roads were influenced in bringing their petition by a desire to observe the long and short haul principles and to eliminate discrimination.

Mr. Wright stated that the interstate commerce commission had required the carriers to remove discriminations in interstate rates and as between interstate and intrastate rates, and that it is obligatory upon the railroads to carry out this mandate.

Mr. Wright declined to attempt to say what difference there might be between the weight of the revenue considerations and the elimination of discrimination in the action of the roads.

Mr. Wimbish wanted to know whether Mr. Wright knew that the "fourth section" order of the interstate commerce commission, effective last January, fixing interstate rates into the southeast, and upon which the present intrastate petition of the carriers is based, was now under attack.

Mr. Wright stated that he understood the Atlanta Freight bureau had a petition pending before the interstate commerce commission.

As to Competition.

Mr. Wimbish asked a series of questions to show that, although Mr. Wright had stated that under the proposed new rates, Georgia cities could compete with water rates in Savannah, there would be cities further north who would still be in better position than north Georgia cities for such competition. Mr. Wright stated that while this was in a measure true he knew of no system of rates which could be devised to remedy this situation; but that as the distance increased the competition must necessarily become less strong, and that Chicago or Detroit, original producing points, under this sort of reasoning would be in better position to compete than the other cities further south. This was on the theory that the commodities in question in the instances of all the theortically competing cities came from the furthest point north.

When Mr. Wimbish's cross-examination was closed, Mr. Clifton took the stand.

Mr. Clifton stated that it will be the policy of the railroads not to propose any system of rates which would discriminate against Georgia producers in favor of producers outside the state, and that the railroads will not publish revised rates between points in Georgia prior to the publication of interstate rates between points outside the state of Georgia and points within this state.

He stated that certain of the proposed rates in Georgia are relatively lower than the going rates from interstate points to points within Georgia, and that the roads were restrained, whether properly or not, from putting into effect what they regarded as reasonable rates.

Roads' Position in Georgia.

In further discussing the policy of the roads, Mr. Clifton said that because there were rates of long standing and authorized by the commission, the roads had thought it would be too much of an increase to ask that Georgia rates be placed on a parity with interstate rates, but that the carriers did not care for the interstate rates to be reduced to meet the depressed intrastate rates. He stated that the carriers will later ask the commission to adjust any discriminatory rates between points within Georgia.

Mr. Clifton took up a discussion of the reasons for asking the intrastate revisions.

He said that, first, it is the public obligation of the carriers to remove discrimination between Georgia and interstate rates, under the fourth section order of the interstate commerce commission. When this order became effective, he said, the railrods were confronted by a new situation. A wholesale revision of interstate rates being an accomplished fact, an adjustment of the Georgia intrastate rates became an absolute necessity, and that if the roads continued with the old rates they would be disregarding the mandates of the interstate commerce commission as set forth in the Shreveport case.

Mr. Clifton will continue his testimony at the hearing Saturday morning.

THREE PLAY "POSSUM" AS POLICE RAID GAME

When Officer Steve Felder heard "bones" rolling yesterday morning in the poolroom at the rear of 58 Decatur street, he discovered a heated game going on in full blast. Desiring to make his presence known the officer lifted his revolver and shot once at the ceiling. Immediately three of the crowd fell upon the floor as if dead; others crept under the table and more escaped.

One officer succeeded in bringing to police headquarters James Golden, John Cowan, Ben Murphy, James Watley, Oscar Alexander and Clifford Pitts.

GOVERNOR WILL ACT ON ALL BILLS PASSED BY SATURDAY NIGHT

Governor Harris announced Friday he would dispose of all the bills passed by the legislature which has just adjourned by Saturday night and that he intended to go on the stump Monday and make a number of speeches in the interest of his candidacy for re-election.

There are a number of things which the governor wishes to explain to the people, particularly his action in vetoing the Neill primary bill. He said that it was not true that the measure passed this year was the same as that introduced at the 1915 session. The bill had been radically amended this year. The original bill, he declared, had contained no second primary feature at all.

WHY YOU SHOULD VOTE FOR

Capt. Chas. A. Stokes

For Alderman To Represent the 8th Ward

J. H. EWING WILL NOT BE IN ALDERMANIC RACE

In Formal Announcement He States He Will Decline to Be Candidate

J. H. Ewing, who has been frequently mentioned as a probable candidate for the aldermanic board from the Eighth ward, formally announced Monday that he would decline to allow the use of his name at the coming primary, leaving the field clear to Charles A. Stokes, who announced some time ago.

Friends of Mr. Stokes declare that they expect him to be named without opposition, now that Mr. Ewing has declined to run. Mr. Ewing made known the fact that he would not stand for the aldermanic board in a letter to John E. Murphy, J. E. Orr, W. O. Foote and a number of other residents of the ward, who had signed a petition urging him to make the race.

In this letter Mr. Ewing declares that while he would be pleased to join with other citizens in a campaign for greater efficiency in the city government, that he has no personal political ambition, and so had pledged his support to Mr. Stokes before the petition was circulated, urging that he become a candidate himself.

Out of deference to his friend, Mr. Ewing writes, he declined to allow the use of his name at this time.

Mr. Ewing is a member of the real estate firm of Smith & Ewing and has been prominent in business circles for many years. The petition urging him to run for alderman was signed by a number of leading citizens of the Eighth ward.—Atlanta Journal, May 15, 1916.

To the Public:

In order to thoroughly acquaint the people of Atlanta with the circumstances pertaining to my announcement for Alderman, I am reproducing in the parallel column, the substance of the action taken by my opponent, Mr. J. H. Ewing, about the time I publicly declared my intention of making the race.

A service of eighteen years in the State Militia entitles me to retire, and I am now personally presenting my claims for the place, assuring you that if elected, I will support any movement that will promote the welfare of the city.

Your vote and influence will be thoroughly appreciated.

Faithfully yours,
Capt. Chas. A. Stokes.

J. R. HOLLIDAY, Constitution Building, sole Advertising Manager for all territory outside Atlanta.

The address of the Washington Bureau is No. 1727 S Street, N. W., Mr. John Corrigan, Jr., staff correspondent, in charge.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York city by 2 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had: Hotaling's Newsstands, Broadway and Forty-second street (Times building corner), Thirty-eighth street and Broadway and Twenty-ninth street and Broadway.

The Constitution is not responsible for advance payments to out-of-town local carriers, dealers or agents.

LET US HOPE.

Advices from Washington indicate that Logan Waller Page, director of the Federal Good Roads bureau, already has a copy of the Georgia highway commission bill as enacted by the legislature recently adjourned and furnished him by Congressman Carl Vinson, of the tenth, and is carefully considering the text of it with a view to determining whether it sufficiently complies with the terms of the federal act relative to the government distribution of some $80,000,000 for good roads purposes, to enable Georgia to participate in this fund.

Mr. Page is charged with the administration of the good roads fund which is to be distributed through the national department of agriculture. His recommendation will not only carry weight, but is practically certain to be adopted. If Georgia is to receive her proportionate share of this fund now, it will come through Mr. Page's favorable construction of the highway commission law Georgia's general assembly has just enacted.

Until there has been adverse decision we shall continue to hope that Georgia will get her part of this fund without further delay.

While Mr. Page has announced he will give an opinion upon the law as enacted at the very first opportunity, we must in the meantime wait in fear and doubt because of his previous warning statements regarding highway commission measures pending before the legislature. Mr. Page unhesitatingly stated it as his opinion that under the house bill Georgia could not participate in the federal fund. The senate made few changes in that measure, and none that were vital or significant as bearing upon the federal good roads act.

However, until decision is rendered, we may still hope he will find a way to include Georgia in the list of states to which the distribution is made. If he does not, he will at least let us know wherein we are lacking, which will mean a wait of twelve months until another legislature can meet and remedy the defects in the law just enacted.

Ultimately, Georgia will get her share of the federal good roads money, which, it is said, covering a period of five years, will aggregate something like $2,000,000. But it will be a pity, in fact, a genuine misfortune, if we are compelled because of legislative politics to postpone for another year the valuable constructive work which otherwise might soon be under way.

ATLANTA AT FIVE POINTS.

Why shouldn't Atlanta use the splendid opportunity presented at Five Points to advertise Atlanta?

Every time anybody wants to advertise anything on a street banner that will attract the greatest amount of attention, they try to put it up at Five Points. There is just one reason why they do this, and that is because a greater number of people pass there every day than pass any other particular point in the city.

The business man who goes out for the best return from street sign advertising, puts it where it gets the best circulation, both from a standpoint of quantity and quality. The man who wants to advertise a particular product in Atlanta on a sign would rather have that sign set up at Five Points than anywhere else in the city, solely for the reason that he knows he gets there the greatest amount of attention.

Whenever an enterprise is undertaken for the good of Atlanta, banners calling attention to it are hung at Five Points, by the consent of the city authorities. This privilege is sought because it is a valuable one and so far as it is controlled by the city ordinances, it is never granted for the exploitation of an individual product or a matter of more or less individual or corporate concern.

But the city of Atlanta can and should advertise Atlanta at Five Points, because in the many thousands of people who pass there every day there are hundreds of visitors to the city who would be attracted by and interested in something unique and to the point about Atlanta.

Why not put up an Atlanta banner at Five Points and keep it there the year round? Let it tell Atlanta's story briefly and to the point along one line this week and along another the next. It would be of value to tell our own home people things about the city they don't know. Reading it there they would talk and spread it to the four corners of the south.

But better still, it would meet and strike the eye of practically every visitor to the city. It would tell him in a few quick words Atlanta's story of bigger and better business, of push and prosperity.

Let's hang an Atlanta banner at Five Points and talk about ourselves. Let's change it from week to week, or from month to month, or as often as may be deemed necessary; but let's tell there in brief and pointed phrase the advantages Atlanta offers, and it will prove a well-placed investment.

Today it may advertise the Southeastern fair; tomorrow Atlanta's excess in clearings; again her precedence in manufactures. Ultimately it will tell a complete story that will draw and hold attention.

The opportunity in an Atlanta banner prominently placed at Five Points is one the city will quickly and abundantly profit by, if the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce will take hold of the execution of it.

FOR THE SANITARIUM.

It is unfortunate that the legislature could not have seen its way clear to do better than it did for the state sanitarium, in its measure providing for the erection of two new buildings at that institution.

The trustees of the sanitarium were exceedingly modest in their request when they asked an appropriation for this purpose of $300,000. In that request they sought only to relieve pressing and imperative necessities. They omitted requests for many things for which the legislature should provide of its own motion. They asked for nothing for a much needed psychopathic ward in which to treat curable cases. They made no further request for a separate institution for epileptics and defective children. They asked no relief from the horde of inebriates which is turned upon them. They demanded no immediate provision elsewhere for Georgia's criminal insane.

All of these things and more might have been asked in the best of good grace and with justice back of each request. But it was to make needed provision for caring for Georgia's unfortunates that the trustees sought first; and this could be done only by the erection immediately of new buildings for white women patients and for negroes.

Notwithstanding this, the legislature saw fit to discount the request and cut the appropriation down one-third. The $200,000 given will erect two buildings, thereby relieving the present congestion only. These will no more than be erected before the conditions of today, through normal increase in the number of patients, will repeat themselves.

It is inconceivable that any man in his right senses should seek to enter protest against this measure in which every county in Georgia is directly interested. For without this relief the sanitarium must of necessity close its doors for lack of space to accommodate the patients now sent to it.

All Georgia will hope that another legislature when it meets will find conditions such as to enable it to provide for the state sanitarium in a manner commensurate with its unquestioned needs, and as the natural and sympathetic humanity of Georgians would demand.

Yes, this is leap year; but as woman suffrage grows apace we don't hear much about it.

It is said that there are over 5,000,000 prisoners in the prison camps of Europe. It's a safe bet that they are not getting "three squares" a day.

A New York doctor suggests that very small children should be allowed to go without clothes in summer. Some of the older "children" at the bathing beaches are doing their best along this line.

"Kaiser pities the man who started the war," reads a headline. Everybody else is cussing him.

The man at Oyster Bay must be exercising a lot of self-repression to keep quiet for so long a time.

Some of those boys down on the border who had begun to turn up their noses at mother's cooking and frequent the downtown restaurants would give a month's pay to slide into their accustomed seats at mother's table once more.

Alabama Farmer Here To Study Diversification From Georgia Farmers

With a distressing story of suffering and destruction of the cotton crop by the boll weevil, Mr. O. O. Tollerson, a former Georgia citizen, who some years ago moved to Dothan, Ala., visited the office of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce Thursday afternoon. "The boll weevil has destroyed," said Mr. Tollerson, "between 75 and 80 per cent of this year's cotton crop around Dothan."

In further discussing the matter Mr. Tollerson said that the people of that section were exactly like the people of the state of Georgia, in that they do not believe boll weevil would do much damage, especially around such territory as the country around Dothan. "They have found out," said Mr. Tollerson, "that the boll weevil destroys wherever he goes and destroys at least 75 per cent of the average cotton crop. The condition of the cotton farms around Dothan this year is extremely distressing. The worst part of it is that the people realize that it is not simply temporary destruction for one year, but that the same story will be repeated next year and that they must turn to other crops than cotton.

To Study Diversification.

"I have come to Georgia to study for our people diversification plans to be adopted in our county. If we had begun last year when the boll weevil first arrived, and not attempted to cultivate more than four acres of cotton to the plow, and with the other acreage cultivated some other crop, our people would have been in good condition. In the end, the boll weevil may be the means of causing, by force, our people to grow other crops as well as cotton, but the immediate result is very serious and means suffering and debt for the middle class of people of the section where the boll weevil hits."

Schedule for Candler Meetings Announced

Candler ward meetings for today and next week have been announced as follows:

Saturday night, at Jones' store, McDonough road and Hill street, on the Federal prison car line.

Monday night, second ward, at South Pryor and Bass streets; and, first ward, at Walker and Nelson streets.

Tuesday night, fifth ward, at Chestnut and Kennedy streets; third ward, at Woodward avenue and Oakland street.

The night meetings all are scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock.

At tonight's meeting Mr. Candler and Walter P. Andrews will be the speakers.

Mr. Andrews and Mr. Candler will speak to the employees in the Southern shops at noon Monday. Tuesday noon the two will address the employees of the Atlantic Steel company and of the Spalding Foundry company at a joint meeting of the workers. They will address the employees of the Murray company Wednesday noon. "Jim" Hollowell will speak Monday noon to the employees of the Continental Gin company.

A big Candler rally will be held in the downtown district, in the form of a central final demonstration on the eve of election, Wednesday. The hour nor the location has been definitely decided upon.

Praises Constitution's Stand In Defense of Country Banks

Editor Constitution: The statement in your editorial in The Constitution of the 16th, "As to Country Banks," is true, sensible, fair and timely. Yours is the first protest we have seen.

The efforts of the federal reserve banks to force non-member state banks to remit them at par is unfair, unjust and their reasons or excuses for forcing it is reprehensible.

Mr. Burleson, in postponing action in giving postmasters authority to collect checks on points where there are no federal reserve agents, says "that the loss of exchange to these banks will not be a serious item, but will save millions to the merchants." Where are these millions to come from except from the profits of the banks on exchange charges? And who are the majority of those merchants he is seeking to deliver from exchange charges? In looking over our customers' checks we find meat packers, oil companies, produce companies, hardware companies, bargain houses, manufacturers, steel and wire corporations, sugar companies, furniture houses and mail order houses, head the list. Why rob the banks to help these fellows? Are we not burdened enough with corporation tax, income tax, special bankers' tax, revenue tax, without taking further from us? We have seen the time when, without our exchange profits, we would have had to pass a dividend.

We think well of the federal reserve system and seriously contemplated joining it recently. Their conditions were a little hard for a country bank to live up to, but we were afraid of other requirements they might make of us at any time they saw fit. Why should we want to avail ourselves of 3 per cent money to be limited to 6 per cent loans. We can borrow at 4 per cent and lend at 8 per cent.

The federal reserve is a great system and should be run without the aid of demagogues. We think they will do better to give the state banks assurance of proper treatment and not to try to drive them into the system with the Williams-McAdoo-Burleson combination.

We are glad you have come out in the defense of the country banks, and hope you will continue to give us your support.

Riches Have Not Changed the True Manhood of Asa Candler

Editor Constitution: If the people of Atlanta knew Asa G. Candler as I know him, his election would be unanimous, as, indeed, it should be.

I knew him many years ago when he was quite poor financially and a member of a small Methodist church on the Georgia railroad in Edgewood. He was then an humble follower of Christ as he is today. I heard him make a remark once that was characteristic of the man. The conference of his church had recently assigned to the Edgewood church a pastor whom the members considered undesirable. To a group of complaining ones Asa G. Candler remarked: "Well, he is my pastor now, and I am for him." This spirit showed the real man. He was then loyal to duty, and he is the same now.

It will be mean and cowardly to attack Mr. Candler now because he has become rich. How has he used his money? In selfish personal gratification? Does he parade his wealth and despise the poor? No man can truthfully make the accusation.

Wealth is a fearful test of a man, and too frequently poor human nature becomes proud of gains which Providence has permitted. This is not true of Mr. Candler. He loves his city; he loves his state; but more than all, he loves God.

All the interests of Atlanta will be safe in his hands.

CHARLES M. NEEL.

FOR ATLANTA.

A Patriotic Acrostic.

Atlanta, now thy favorite son
Shall see that thy great work is done,
And serve until the victory's won.

Come, let the people all unite!
Awake the spirit known of old!
No time to falter, for the fight
Demands that every one shall hold
Love for his city his first aim.
Enrolled for progress be each name,
Resurgens, let them all proclaim,

The Island of Euboea, Retreat of Serbia's King, Rich Agricultural Section

Washington, August 18.—Euboea, the Greek island in the Aegean sea, where the exiled King Peter of Serbia is reported to have found a temporary asylum, is the subject of today's war geography bulletin issued by the National Geographic society from Washington, which says:

"The northern promontories of Euboea, on one of which the aged, throneless sovereign of the nation which plunged Europe into the greatest war in the world's history, is reported to have taken refuge, are the most interesting sections of this island which became a part of the kingdom of Greece in 1880.

"Euboea corresponds in size almost exactly to Long Island, New York, having an area only four square miles larger than the latter. It extends along the northeastern shore of Greece, being a little less than 100 miles long, and varying in width from 4 to 30 miles. It is separated from Boeotia by the narrow Euboic sea, which becomes constricted to the Strait of Euripus at the seaport of Chalcis, a town of about 8,000 inhabitants. At this point the island is separated from the mainland by only a few yards. A rock rising from the waters of the strait forms an anchorage for a stone bridge between it and the mainland, and for a swinging bridge toward Chalcis, the latter being necessary to allow vessels to pass through the channel, where at irregular intervals during the day the waters rush with the velocity of a swift river, sometimes from north to south and at other times in the opposite direction, according to the tide. When the Euboeans revolted from Athens during the Peloponnesian wars the Boeotians constructed the first bridge across the strait, 'making Euboea an island to every-one except themselves.'

Near Scene of Famous Battle.

"If King Peter has chosen the northeastern promontory of Euboea as his home while awaiting that day when he hopes the entente allies will succeed in driving the enemy Teutons from Serbian soil, he can overlook the waters where the battle of Artemisium was fought in 480 B. C., a prelude to the greater glory of Salamis and the heroic defense of the Pass of Thermopylae. It was at Artemisium that the Greek fleet, commanded by Themistocles, the father of the Athenian 'wooden walls' as her navy came to be known, met the superior naval forces of Xerxes in a three days' battle. While not achieving a decisive victory the patriotic fleet received its 'baptism of blood' which prepared it for subsequent triumphs over the Persian hordes.

"If, on the other hand, the exile has chosen the more salubrious northwestern promontory, under the shadow of Mt. Gaetsades with its heights clothed in medicinal shrubs, he will be able to enjoy the famous Baths of Heracles. These sulphur waters, which are still much frequented by Greeks who suffer from gout, rheumatism and digestive ailments, afforded a favorite retreat for the Roman dictator, Cornelius Sulla, self styled 'Venus' favorite,' but known to his enemies as 'half lion, half fox.' One of the few acts of clemency recorded of Sulla was his removal of the name of Julius Caesar from the proscribed list of adherents of the Marius party. In sparing the life of this youth of 19 Sulla is reputed to have exclaimed prophetically, 'There is in that boy many a Marius.'

Where Labors of Hercules Ended.

"At one point on the northwestern coast Euboea is separated from Thessaly by a strait which is only a mile and a half broad. It was in this vicinity that the final episodes in the eventful life of the Greek demigod Hercules were supposed to have occurred. It was after he had accomplished his twelve labors that Hercules erected an altar in Euboea to his father, Zeus. He sent a messenger, Lichas, to Thracis for a white robe to be used in the dedication ceremonies. Lichas brought a cloak given to him by the jealous Deinira, who believed that the garment, dipped in the blood of the dying centaur Nessus, was a love charm. It proved to be a fiery and fatal poison. Hercules, as soon as he felt the sting of the coat, hurled the innocent Lichas over a cliff, near the village which now bears the latter's name and which may be King Peter's retreat.

"The most beautiful scenery in all Greece is to be found in the fertile valleys and towering mountains of Euboea, which gets its name, 'rich in cattle,' from the fine pasture land of its plains. The inhabitants, more than 100,000 in number, are chiefly engaged in cattle raising and in agriculture, the principal exports being wool, hides, wheat, oil and cheese.

"Chalcis, the chief seaport of the island, is only fifty miles by rail northeast of Athens."

Danger in Narrow Streets

(From the Kansas City Star.)

One of the most difficult of all city problems is to keep traffic from choking the busiest streets and have those streets safe for people on foot. Every city in the country is wrestling with that problem, and all the time it grows worse.

The primary cause for it is narrow streets. Those who laid out our city streets did not foresee the needs of today. They did not dream of a metropolis. They could not imagine the motor car. They built for the needs of that day, and consequently the streets are entirely inadequate for the uses of a big city. That is true of Kansas City, as well as of New York.

Writing of this very subject in The World's Work, Arthur Woods, police commissioner of New York city, says that in many of our American cities, notably in New York, the growth has been more upward than spreading out; buildings have mounted 20, 30, 40 stories into the air, and each of those floors is occupied by human beings. The streets, however, remain the same width. It is as if several cities were piled one on top of the other and yet were forced to depend for the movement of pedestrians and vehicular traffic upon the same size of street as 20 years ago.

At one corner in New York 10,300 vehicles and 223,000 persons on foot passed in ten hours. At a point on Fifth avenue 25,280 vehicles and 142,230 persons on foot passed in ten hours. "In other words," said Mr. Woods, "the equivalent of the population of cities the size of St. Paul, Rochester, Denver, Seattle and Louisville is daily passing many different street corners in New York city."

The coming of the motor car has actuated the problem. Where a few years ago people on foot heard the warning clatter of slow-moving, horse-driven vehicles, now a new type of wagon, shod in noiseless rubber, rushes down upon them with no warning save the honk of a horn, and this too often drowned in the roar and rattle of truck, trolley cars and delivery carts.

One of the results is that street accidents have increased at an appalling rate. Mr. Woods asserts that more persons were killed in one month last summer trying to cross the streets of New York city than were lost in one year crossing the plains to the gold fields of California. In five months 567 persons were killed and 20,000 injured in street accidents, and one-half were children.

Last year 23,980 persons were injured or killed in street accidents in New York. One person was killed every thirteen and one-fourth hours and a person injured every 22 minutes. The most tragic element of the whole accident problem is the number of children that are victims. Last year 290 children were killed and 7,386 injured.

The traffic policeman and safety zones and good traffic laws strictly enforced will lessen these accidents somewhat, but the only remedy for street congestion and accidents on account of it is streets of sufficient width to care for the traffic without choking. Widen the streets before the cost becomes prohibitive. The need of action is evident to anyone who looks at the crowded streets today and imagines what conditions will be five years hence, when the number of motor vehicles has doubled or trebled.

Enormous Presure in Twigs.

(F. V. Coville in the National Geographic Magazine.)

Along with the formation of the sugar, and caused in part by its accumulation, there develop within the minute cells of the blueberry plant enormous osmotic pressures, which enable the plant to push its buds open.

These pressures are frequently as high as seven atmospheres, or more than 100 pounds to the square inch—a pressure that would start a leak in a low-pressure steam engine. The pressure may become as high as 30 atmospheres, or 450 pounds to the square inch—a force sufficiently to blow the cylinder head off of a thousand horsepower Corliss engine. The reason the plant does not explode is because it is broken up into many extremely small and strongly built cells instead of having one big interior cavity. These minute chambers are often as thick-walled proportionately as an artillery shell.

IN THE CHURCHES

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN.

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. J. Sprole Lyons, D. D., who is out of the city on his vacation, Rev. S. First National Park in the East.

(From the National Geographic Magazine.)

Mount Desert island, the culminating point of the beautiful coast scenery of Maine, has been accepted by President Wilson and now stands dedicated forever to free public use and to purposes of bird and other wild life conservation, under the title of the Sieur de Monts National monument. This marks the beginning of a new era in our national park development, being the first national park—apart from battle monuments and forest reserves—to be established in the vast and wealthy eastern region of our country—the region of early occupation, of densest population, and the greatest public need.

Limburg, Location of German Camp for English Prisoners, Is Not Famous Cheese Town

"Four Limburgs dot the map of Europe," says the war geography bulletin issued by the National Geographic society, "but the probable location of the German camp for English prisoners, where the execution of two Irish soldiers created a great stir in diplomatic circles recently, is Limburg-on-the-Lahn. The other Limburgs are: the smallest of the nine provinces of Belgium; the smallest province of Holland; and Limburg-on-the-Lenne, also called Hohenlimburg. Of course, there should be no confusion of these places with the Galician city which is spelled Lemberg.

"Limburg-on-the-Lahn is one of the oldest towns of Germany. It is situated in the principality of Hesse-Nassau and is 32 miles east of the important Rhenish city of Coblenz. As a prison camp it has the advantage of being comparatively near the battle fronts of France and Belgium, yet sufficiently far removed to be out of the danger zone of possible raid and rescue. It is at least 160 miles in an airline northeast of Verdun, the nearest important point of conflict at the present time, and lies 100 miles almost directly east of Malmedy, a town on the German-Belgium frontier. Germany's great cathedral city, Cologne, is 65 miles in an airline to the north-west.

Limburg a Manufacturing City.

"At the outbreak of the war Limburg was a town of slightly less than 10,000 inhabitants, and its chief interests were tobacco factories, soap and pottery works, machine shops and breweries. To the east, along the Lahn extends the Limburg basin, for three or four miles, and it is probably in this plain that the English prisoners are confined.

"One of the exasperating features of being a prisoner in Limburg must be the recollection to many of the English unfortunates that at this very season of the year in peace times they were wont to flock to the famous baths of Ems, just 20 miles down the river. Ems was accustomed to entertaining 12,000 visitors during July and August, and the sufferers from pulmonary troubles gathered there from all parts of Europe and the British Isles.

"Another interesting town in the vicinity of Limburg is Nassau, 17 miles to the west. It was here that the great German statesman, Baron Stein, was born and spent his youth. Stein was largely instrumental in saving Prussia after Napoleon had imposed the drastic terms of the treaty of Tilsit, for although he had only a short time before been dismissed by his sovereign as 'a refractory, insolent, obstinate and disobedient official,' when the critical moment arrived the baron was the pre-eminently strong figure to whom Frederick William could turn.

"During the middle ages Limburg belonged to the Counts of Lahngau, but early in the fifteenth century this line became extinct and the city passed under the jurisdiction of the Electors of Treves, who governed the city for nearly 400 years.

A Famous Cathedral.

"The most interesting building in Limburg is the famous seven-towered cathedral, whose history dates back to 909. It was founded by the powerful Salic Count of Niederlahngau, Conrad Kurzbold, the remains of whose castle adjoins the church. The present structure was erected in 1213-42, and was restored during the last quarter of the nineteenth century.

"One of the most famous bridges in Germany is the one which spans the Lahn here. It was built in 1315 and stands as a remarkable monument to the engineering skill of six centuries ago. A few miles up the river, perched on a rocky eminence, is another ancient structure, the famous old church of Dietkirchen, built in 801.

"Limburg is esteemed in the history of Austria as the place where Archduke Charles defeated the French under Jourdan in 1796.

"One of the most highly prized possessions of this city is the famous Limburg Chronicle, or Festi Limpurgenses, a source for the history of Rhineland during the fourteenth century and especially valuable on account of the light it throws on the German manners and customs of that period and for its preservation of old German folk-songs.

"It is a common error to think of this city of Limburg as the place made notorious by a certain brand of odoriferous cheese, but the dairy product, the subject of many jests, originated in the province of Luttich, Belgium, in the neighborhood of Herve, and was first marketed in Limburg, Belgium. Its manufacture has spread through Germany and Austria and large quantities of it are made now in New York and Wisconsin."

Dogs of War in Holland.

(From the National Geographic Magazine.)

Dogs have always been used in the low countries as the motive power for light carts and in towing ships in the canals. Now a special variety of machine-gun dog of war is being bred, resembling the Eskimo dogs in their vitality and high spirits. They keep cheerful and efficient long after the human machine has yielded to fatigue.

THE DAY'S GRIST FROM THE STATE POLITICAL MILL

ROBERT B. BLACKBURN SPEAKS AT CONYERS SATURDAY

Robert B. Blackburn, member of the lower house from Fulton county and candidate for congress from the fifth district to succeed Congressman William Schley Howard, will speak at Conyers this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

Mr. Blackburn's duties in the legislature have kept him tied down to legislative work so closely that up to the present he has had but little time for stump speaking, but now that the legislature is over, Mr. Blackburn states that he will cover the district as thoroughly as possible in behalf of his candidacy.

A. A. M'CURRY, OF HARTWELL, IN RACE FOR STATE SENATE

A. A. McCurry, of Hartwell, Ga., former member of the house from Hart county, was in Atlanta Friday. Mr. McCurry is in the race for the state senate from the 31st district, and stated that he is pleased with the progress of his race.

Incidentally, Seaborn Winn it appears will be the next representative of Hart county in the lower house. Mr. Morris, the present representative, declined to stand for re-election, and Mr. Winn is running without opposition.

HOT RACE IN SENATE IN THE AUGUSTA DISTRICT

In the last several days a hot race for the state senate from the Augusta district has developed.

Judge Sam Olive, present representative in the lower house from Richmond county, some time ago announced his candidacy for the senate and for a good while was without opposition.

Recently, however, Wallace B. Pierce, of Augusta, announced that he is a candidate against Mr. Olive. Mr. Pierce is a former representative—in fact, Mr. Olive's immediate predecessor—from Richmond county, and the race promises to be one of the hottest political contests that district has seen in some years.

ZACH ARNOLD IS RUNNING FOR LEGISLATURE UNOPPOSED

Representative Zach Arnold, of Clay county, is one of the number of fortunate members of the present house seeking to succeed themselves who are without opposition.

Although it has been known in Clay county for some time tht Mr. Arnold would ask to be sent back to the house to succeed himself, no opposition has developed.

GRAHAM URGED TO RUN FOR COURT OF APPEALS

John M. Graham, who has been officially connected with the supreme court of Georgia for twenty years, is being urged by lawyers throughout the state to become a candidate for one of the three judgeships upon the court of appeals recently created by the legislature.

Mr. Graham was for many years a prominent attorney in Atlanta, and subsequently removed to Marietta, Ga., where he now resides.

In conjunction with Mr. G. W. Stevens, he has edited and compiled the official volumes known as Georgia Reports, containing the decisions of the supreme court of this state, and since the creation of the Georgia court of appeals, has performed similar duties in connection with that court.

Prior to his connection with this work, these duties were performed by General Thomas R. R. Cobb, Judge Logan E. Bleckley, Judge Lumpkin, and others of Georgia's greatest jurists, and this office in Georgia, as in other states, has frequently served as a stepping stone to the bench.

Mr. Graham received valuable training for judicial work as secretary to Chief Justice Logan E. Bleckley; and subsequently to Chief Justice Simmons of the supreme court of Georgia.

The suggestion is receiving serious consideration by Mr. Graham, who states that he will reach a decision in the matter within the next few days.

TO FURNISH COUNTY OFFICIALS WITH GOBER'S FORM BOOK

One of the last actions of the general assembly on the day of its adjournment was to pass the bill introduced by Senator E. P. Dobbs, requiring the state to furnish every justice of the peace, ordinary, clerk and sheriff of each county in Georgia, without expense, a copy of Gober's Georgia Form Book and Procedure.

This valuable work was compiled by Judge George F. Gober, who was for many years judge of the superior court of the Blue Ridge circuit, and who is recognized as a standard authority in matters of legal forms and procedure.

It has always been the policy of the state to furnish its court officers with codifications of its laws, this direction having been given the code of 1882 and the code of 1895.

Justices of the peace have constant need for a reliable form book, containing citations from the decisions of the courts of last resort in this state, and these citations, which were omitted from the code of 1895, are incorporated in Gober's Form Book.

There was no oposition to the passage of the bill, but on account of the congested condition of the calendar, it required strenuous efforts on the part of Senator Dobbs, aided by Representatives Dorsey and Morris, to have the measure advanced by the rules committee on the calendar and considered for passage.

The various justices of the peace throughout the state are circulating among themselves a resolution of thanks to Senator Dobbs for his effective labors in their behalf.

DORSEY LEADS POLL ON A., B. & A. TRAIN

Another Hugh M. Dorsey poll—this time on the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic train between Atlanta and Manchester—was reported to headquarters of the Dorsey campaign yesterday afternoon and given out by Judge Frank Harwell, campaign manager.

Walter Vance, one of Mr. Dors[illegible] most active friends, sent in the [illegible] with the following letter dated at [illegible]dele:

"Mr. Erwin and myself polle[illegible] the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic train from Atlanta to Manchester this morning, August 15, and found sixty-seven men for Dorsey, seven for Harris, eight for Hardman and two for Pottle.

"We polled the ladies, too, even if they can't vote, and found thirty for Dorsey, nine for Harris, two for Hardman and none for Pottle.

"This is a good indication of how it is all over Georgia. I wouldn't be surprised by overwhelming success for Mr. Dorsey on September 12.

"Old Crisp county is in good shape."

DORSEY FAR IN THE LEAD THIS "STRAW BALLOT" SHOWS

The name and address and ballot of every man who took part in it accompanies the latest report of a Hugh Dorsey "straw ballot," which reached headquarters Friday afternoon and was given out by Judge Harwell, campaign manager. Inasmuch as the list shows every voter, it is rather long for publication, but it has found a treasured place in the archives of Dorsey headquarters.

R. A. Ewing, of Atlanta, and W. E. Vance, of Cordele, were the "election managers" who gathered the poll and reported it. Here is the result they show:

Dorsey 67, Harris 9, Hardman 7, Pottle 2.

Also, the ladies aboard the train were polled. It has developed in the Dorsey campaign that the women of Georgia are taking a lively interest in state politics. Here is the result reported by Messrs. Ewing and Vance of the votes cast by the ladies:

Dorsey 30, Harris 9, Hardman 2, Pottle none.

LAWRENCEVILLE NEWS-HERALD USES THE "DEADLY PARALLEL"

The controversy between The Lawrenceville News-Herald and Dr. Hardman, candidate for governor, in which the former accused the latter of claiming to be the author, or of having had "passed" certain bills while a member of the legislature, has reached the state where The News-Herald has involved the use of the "deadly parallel" to prove its accusation, using for this purpose advertisements of Dr. Hardman published in Atlanta papers in May, and his answer to The News-Herald editorial of July 10, which was also published in the Atlanta papers.

In reference to the vital statistics bill, one of those in question, The News-Herald says:

This bill was introduced and passed in 1914, at which time Dr. Hardman was not even a member of the legislature. This he does not, nor cannot truthfully deny. See Acts 1914, page 157.

Now, in order to show that the doctor has contradicted himself in what he has published about this particular bill, we put, in parallel columns, an extract from his advertisement in The Atlanta Constitution of May 28, 1916, and his statement in reference to the same matter, in his alleged reply to our charge that he has been claiming it as his own.

Advertisement in Constitution May 28.—"He introduced a vital statistics bill which is now a law, but without adequate funds to enforce; he will insist upon its enforcement."

What His "Reply" Says.—"I have always favored a vital statistics bill, but do not now claim and have never claimed that I introduced the bill which is the present law."

The Tuberculosis Sanitarium.

The Doctor claimed to have "introduced" the bill establishing "a state sanitarium for treating tuberculosis, at Alto," in his advertisement published in The Atlanta Journal of May 26, 1916, while he gives a different version of the history of that legislation in his "reply" to our editorial of July 10. This forces us, in self defense, to draw the deadly parallel on him again, showing his condition "before and after taking."

His Adv. in Journal, May 26.—"He has introduced some of the most important health bills in the state and he stands for a greater health department for Georgia, such bills as free treatment of hydrophobia, diphtheria, tuberculosis, establishing a state sanitarium for treating tuberculosis at Alto. The law for registered nurses is also one of his measures."

What His "Reply" States.—"This bill was introduced in the house in 1907, by Mr. Frier, of Ware. In 1908 it was introduced by Dr. Whitley, of Douglas. After this bill had passed the house and reached the senate, in which I was serving at the time, I had charge of and handled it, aiding in every way possible to secure its passage."

(The bill passed the senate by a vote of 30 to 4.)

The State Board of Health.

Without openly saying that he "passed" the bill creating this department, Dr. Hardman, in his advertisement in The Constitution heretofore referred to, made a rather discreditable, though poorly executed attempt to appropriate to his own benefit the sole credit for the passage of the bill.

In our article of July 10, we quoted the full statement made by him in that advertisement, which we print in full below, in juxtaposition with what he says in his "reply" to us, which shows that he eliminated fully four-fifths of the paragraph, in an effort to dodge from under the net in which we had entangled him.

In the first paragraph of the following parallel, we give all that the Doctor quotes from that advertisement, in his "reply," and in the second one what we printed in our first article, which covers the whole paragraph in reference to this particular matter:

"In the display advertisement to which you refer in The Atlanta Constitution of May 28, 1916, the language used is as follows: 'Aided largely in the establishment of the health department of the state.'"

What He Really Said.—"Some laws he has given to Georgia. As a member of the state legislature, and senate, in past years, Dr. Hardman has passed such legislation as—aided largely in the establishment of the health department of the state, and has secured the passage of many of the important measures in that department, such as the establishment of the sanitarium at Alto, Ga., for the treatment of tuberculosis."

In order to further its charge that Dr. Hardman had no other connection with the sanitarium and board of health bill than the mere voting for them, along with nine-tenths of the other members of the legislature, The News-Herald prints a latter from Dr. T. R. Whitley, the author and introducer of both, in which he says:

Both bills were introduced by myself, and Dr. Hardman had no connection with them. I did not consult him about the introduction of either bill, and it is ridiculous for him to say that he drew the bills, and had me to introduce them. Doubtless Dr. Hardman voted for the measures on their passage, but I do not know that.

ROSCOE LUKE ANNOUNCES FOR JUDGE OF APPEALS COURT.

Thomasville, Ga., August 18.—(Special.)—Formal announcement was made by Roscoe Luke here today of his candidacy for one of the three new appellate judgeships created by the recent legislature. Mr. Luke has the indorsement of the bar and the people of this section. He is one of Thomasville's most prominent attorneys and has many friends throughout the state from whom he is receiving warm assurances of support.

317 CHATHAM VOTERS ORGANIZE DORSEY CLUB

Savannah, Ga., August 18.—(Special.) A flourishing Hugh Dorsey club has been organized in Chatham county. A vigorous campaign will be waged by this organization for Mr. Dorsey.

The Chatham Dorsey club was organized at a meeting at which E. F. Lovell, Jr., was elected president. The following other officers were elected:

First vice president, Gordon Saussy.
Second vice president, E. S. Fuller.
Treasurer, George H. Miller.
Secretary, William A. Lufburrow.
Assistant secretary, Thomas F. Day.

It was announced that Mr. Dorsey will visit Savannah and address the organization at a later date. It was also reported that 317 membership cards have been signed.

At the organization meeting talks were made by A. Pratt Adams, W. H. Thomas, S. F. Wilkinson, G. S. Godbold, W. T. Walker and G. Noble Jones.

ROCKDALE VOTERS HEAR DR. L. G. HARDMAN SPEAK

Conyers, Ga., August 18.—(Special.) Dr. L. G. Hardman addressed an audience of Rockdale voters here this morning in the interest of his candidacy for governor. The speaker was introduced by Colonel J. H. Irvin. Discussing the responsibility of the ballot.

GOV. HARRIS TO SPEAK TO CHATTOOGA VETERANS

Lyerly, Ga., August 18.—(Special.)—The annual Chattooga County Veterans' picnic will be on Tuesday, August 29. Upon invitation from the United Daughters of the Confederacy, Governor Harris will be present and will make an address.

OVATIONS GIVEN TO ASA CANDLER

Three Enthusiastic Meetings Held Last Night--Candidate Given Warm Praise by Many Speakers.

In three rousing campaign rallies, Asa G. Candler, candidate for mayor, last night spoke to great crowds of voters of the eighth, ninth and tenth wards of Atlanta.

The attendance at each meeting gave the impression that it was a contest between wards as to which could show the candidate the greater honor by attendance; and the three meetings seemed blended together in one great Candler ovation. When he appeared at the meeting place in the tenth ward, in which is situated the great cotton warehouse which Candler started during the depressing times of unemployment in 1914, he found 500 people—for the most part working men of the factories and shops, awaiting him.

This meeting was held on the lawn of a vacant house at 122 Dill avenue, where plank benches had been improvised for the occasion. The meeting was presided over by W. H. Bell.

Prominent Men Speak.

Beside Mr. Candler, Walter P. Andrews, member of the last house of representatives, who will be the next senator from this district; Alderman Charles H. Kelley, Webb Almond, a traveling salesman; W. W. Scott, who has known Mr. Candler since his boyhood, and I. N. Ragsdale, former alderman, and one of the first men to announce for the mayoralty early in the campaign, but who withdrew soon afterward on account of illness, delivered speeches in Candler's behalf.

Mr. Ragsdale was speaking when Mr. Candler arrived, and quit soon to make way for the man whom he introduced as "Atlanta's first citizen, best man and next mayor."

"I tell you, folks," said Mr. Candler, "I have much love for Atlanta; because all that I am Atlanta has made me. And I have much love for the tenth ward. I wish we could have only one ward—could obliterate all even imaginary lines—because we are all one people, all of one purpose, and all love the same city. But as to the old tenth ward—I have a great love for it.

"Ever see a mother with a crippled child? How she loves it more than the others—nurses it more carefully, and cannot let it sleep in another room from her? That is because she knows that little crippled child is at a disadvantage—it needs her and all the love and protection she can give it.

"Now, friends, I've got something of a crippled child out here in the tenth ward that needs to be nursed. It's been here since those memorable days in September, 1914." Then he spoke of the great Candler cotton warehouse and how it came to be built.

Financiers Scoffed at Him.

In the crisis following the outbreak of the war and after he had made known his plans to relieve the local situation by building a cotton warehouse and loaning money on cotton at the rate of 6 cents per pound, he said financiers laughed and scoffed.

"'You never can do it,' they told me," Candler said. "'It can't be done—loan 6 cents a pound on cotton.' I told them, 'My friends, it costs more than 6 cents to produce a pound of cotton. The cotton is worth it. I'm going to do it.' And I did do it. When a man tells me I can't do anything that's where I start in.

"Friends, on the 20th of July I was led to believe that it was my duty, if nobody else would, to undertake the work I am now about to engage in. It's something that's got to be done. I won't make anything out of it; it won't do me any good financially—in fact, I will lose money by it. But what of that? I tell you, friends, if I were to lose all the money I might have, what of it? The man who loses his money and saves his character—he isn't poor.

"I believe that a man is put into this world not for gain to himself, but to serve his fellow citizens and those he loves. I realize, friends, that the honor you are going to confer upon me next Thursday is greater than I am, and I don't want to be elected just by a majority. Yes, friends, I want as many votes as I can get honorably, conscientiously."

"You'll get 'em all!" shouted some one, as Mr. Candler left the platform.

Discusses Bills in Legislature.

Mr. Andrews prefaced his "Candler speech" by recounting certain experiences in the last legislature, and the history of certain bills favorable to the working men, in which he was interested. Then he launched upon a character study of Mr. Candler.

As to the candidate's democratic disposition and character, he said:

"There isn't a man in this audience who hasn't put on more airs than Asa G. Candler. There isn't a man on earth having simpler habits.

"The only difference between Mr. Candler and the rest of us is that he always has been just a good, hard-working, honest business man who never gave up, and made a success of whatever he undertook to do. He worked while we slept; he was awake and pushing ahead while we rested."

Mr. Scott declared that:

"If you put your affairs in Mr. Candler's hands you'll put them into the hands of a man who loves his fellow man. He will serve you to the very best of his great and proven ability; and he ought to get every vote in the city next Thursday."

Mr. Ragsdale appealed to his auditors to "stand up for the interests of our great city."

"Stand up for Atlanta," he repeated, "for the interests of Georgia, and of the south, and let's make the Tenth ward first in point of majority for Asa G. Candler. Do your duty, you property owners, and you who don't own property, and let's get back that good old Atlanta spirit."

Mr. Kelley spoke in similar vein, and begged the Tenth ward to "vote for Mr. Candler and the return of confidence in Atlanta by the outside world."

Mr. Almond said that he was going to talk like he would at an "experience meeting," and he did. He said he was for Mr. Candler's opponent until a few days ago, "when I got to see things as I see them now. And much as I love his opponent personally, he should, he must wait. We need Candler. Atlanta needs and will have him."

Prominent among the men in the audience, which contained many women, Robert H. Holland, who is a member of the board of police commissioners; James Jones, J. C. Burnett, J. A. Sasnett, Samuel Freeman, George Dixon, N. E. Harper, Captain A. P. Morgan, and others—all tenth ward Candler workers.

Two Other Meetings Held.

Mr. Candler addressed approximately 500 voters in a meeting at the corner of Hemphill avenue and Tenth street, eighth ward, just before appearing at the tenth ward meeting.

Here the candidate held his audience for some time with his "friendly" talks relative to his former associates, his work and his rise in Atlanta. The meeting was presided over by Dr. Stephen T. Biggers, whose father, according to Mr. Candler, was one of his first friends in Atlanta.

"I was a drug clerk here when I first met Dr. Bigger's father," said the candidate. "He was a leading physician, and I filled prescriptions for him."

A great part of Mr. Candler's address was given over to reminiscences of his early life and associates in the city.

"Always," he stated. "I have had to work and work hard. I didn't have time for much play, and right here I am going to tell you a secret: I have never seen a professional ball game in my life!"

The speaker paused while roars of laughter passed over the audience.

"Also," he continued, "I have never played ball. The truth is that I never had time."

Judge Ernest Kontz and Claude Payton also addressed the gathering, lauding the spirit which had led Mr. Candler to accept the nomination for mayor and consent to run the affairs of the city.

At the time of the eighth ward meeting, another meeting was held not far away in the ninth ward. Several hundred persons attended this meeting also.

CANDIDATES ATTEND BIG BARBECUE TODAY

The Fifth ward citizens and business interests, together with a large number of candidates both for city offices and for state offices, will give a free barbecue today from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. on the George M. Brown lot on the Howell Mill road, near Marietta street. Every one in Atlanta is invited to attend and partake of some real, old-fashioned barbecue prepared in the best style.

The affair is being given in the interest of improvements in the Fifth ward, and to give candidates in the city and state primary a chance to appear before the people of this section of the city.

A large number of business people of this section have contributed to the barbecue. Speaking will begin at 1 p. m. and will continue through the afternoon.

The following candidates have stated they would be present and would make addresses during the day: Jesse W. Armistead, for mayor; C. L. Chosewood, alderman Third ward; Henry Garrett, alderman Fourth ward; B. Lee Smith, alderman Fourth ward; J. H. Ewing, alderman Eighth ward; Walter C. Taylor, city clerk; Drew Liddell, city clerk; H. Nym Hurt, chief of construction; D. B. Grist, building inspector; W. H. Johnson, council Fifth ward; John Y. Smith, legislature; Ernest G. Bentley, legislature; John A. Boykin, solicitor general; Eb T. Williams, solicitor general; J. D. Price, commissioner of agriculture; R. B. Blackburn, for congress, and Nat E. Harris, for governor, and a representative of Joseph E. Pottle for governor.

It is confidently expected that other candidates will be present during the day to address the crowds, as every man running for office will be given a chance to say a few words in the interest of his candidacy. A large crowd is looked for all day.

VASON WILL BE TRIED SEPTEMBER FIFTH

C. K. Vason, a house doorkeeper during the recent session of the assembly, will be placed on trial before Judge Ben Hill probably September 5, on the charge of assault with intent to commit murder upon the person of Thomas B. Felder, who was stabbed during an altercation with Vason and another man in the Kimball house August 3.

The superior court will convene on Monday, September 4, which is Labor day, and because of that fact no cases will be heard until Tuesday. Then, it is expected, Vason's will be one of the first on the calendar.

Probably, too, Mrs. Ida May Innes, wife of Victor Innes, will be placed on trial early in the term for larceny after trust, the indictment against her being not unlike that upon which her husband was convicted during the last court term.

EB T. WILLIAMS JOINS BOYKIN IN HOT DEBATE

Fifth ward voters who assembled at the corner of Bellwood avenue and Ashby street at 8 o'clock last night for an advertised rally of Solicitor General Eb T. Williams in advocacy of his candidacy for the office he holds were treated to an unexpected joint debate between Mr. Williams and his opponent, John A. Boykin. Mr. Boykin was present at the invitation of Mr. Williams, and willingly accepted his challenge to discuss the issues of the campaign insofar as it concerns the solicitor general's race.

It was hammer and tongs between the opposing candidates for over an hour, much to the delectation of the assembled crowd who had expected to hear only Mr. Williams.

Is Austria "Now in the Greatest Peril of Collapse?"

Italy's forward stroke in winning Goritz and the fact that Austria finds herself fighting rear-guard actions in Galicia against the advancing Russians, indicates to some critics that Austria is perilously near a state of collapse and that her elimination from the struggle will be a crushing blow to Germany's hopes. Pro-German sympathizers, however, discount this point and assert that Italy is still a long way from Trieste—or collapse.

The leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for August 19th gives a summary of Italy's telling thrust in the Allied offensive which has cost Austria the town of Goritz, believed to be "the key to Trieste."

HELP! WE DROP TO SECOND DIVISION

----EDITED BY----
DICK JEMISON

Jacobsen's Circuit Smash Gave Travelers the Game; Reilly Again Star at Short

By Henry Loesch.

Little Rock, Ark., August 18.—(Special.)—Scott Perry pitched a better grade of baseball than was offered by Jefferson Holmquist but Scott had to contend with one William Chester Jacobsen, mauler of ye baseball, and Jefferson did not.

Scott made the fatal error in the third inning of this afternoon's session when he tried a high one on the inside on W. C. Jacobsen. The big slugger slapped it squarely in the face, raised it yards over the think tank of Sammy Mayer in centerfield and it counted two runs when Walter Barbare stood just in front of "Big Jake."

Previously, in the same inning, Clarence Covington and Walter Barbare had executed the double steal, Clarence making home. Those three runs in the third cost the Crackers the second game of the series, 3 to 1, and sent them to the second division.

But for that one disastrous inning, Scott Perry showed the Little Rock fans a brilliant pitching show. He was in bad a number of times but he always escaped unharmed. In the sixth inning he allowed the Travelers to fill the bases on three scratchy hits with none out and then pulled through the inning without a run getting over. The Crackers had "Big Jeff" in the hole on several occasions but sensational support kept him in the lead.

Perry's mates were with him all the way, Tom Reilly winning several rounds of cheers from the home fans for his flashy work at short. Kirby and Covington were the men who cut down seemingly sure Cracker hits.

The Crackers scored their ornly run in the fifth inning in this manner: McDonald lead off with a single but was forced at second by Yerkes. Munch was hit by a pitched ball after which Niederkorn shot a single to left to score Yerkes. Perry laid down a bunt to advance Munch to third and Niederkorn to second, Perry being thrown out at first. But Mayer was an easy out on a grounder to Manning.

The Travelers' big third occurred like this: Holmquist grounded out to Munch. Wares singled to left and Covington singled to right, sending "Buzzy" to third. Covington then stole second. Wares was caught at the plate when Barbare grounded to Reilly. When Jacobsen came up the Cracker outfield backed up, but the big walloper caught one to his taste and drove it almost to the centerfield wall. Jacobsen crossed the plate standing up with time to spare. After that Manning was called out on strikes.

The final game of the series will be called at 4 o'clock and will again be sent in detail to Atlanta fandom. Red Day will probably face Omar Hardgrove in the final meeting between the two teams this season.

THREE CLUBS AFTER HEINIE ZIMMERMAN

Chicago, August 18.—Three National league clubs are said to be seeking the services of Heinie Zimmerman, the hard-hitting third baseman of the Cubs. Walter Hapgood, representing Boston, it was said, would put up a concrete offer, including players, to President Weeghman when he returns here tomorrow. The other clubs seeking Zimmerman, according to Manager Tinker, are Philadelphia and Brooklyn.

WOMEN'S SWIMMING MARK ESTABLISHED

London, August 18.—Miss Eileen Lee, who swam 36¼ miles in the Thames river today in ten hours and seventeen minutes, is said to have established a new world's record in long distance swimming for women. Miss Lee started at Tedding Lock and swam to Wapping and then back to Kew Bridge. She finished fresh.

Winder Disbands.

The Winder baseball team disbanded last night after a successful season, the players were paid up to the end of the week, and were more than satisfied with their stay in Winder. "Bill" Pierre, manager of the team, was presented with a beautiful signet ring by the fans of the little city.

THE "BIG NINE"

Despite the fact that he lost three points, Jacobsen took the lead in the Southern league batting race, his home run in four trips to the plate surpassing Thrasher's failure to hit in four trips, the latter dropping four points. Meusel lost two points, getting a home run in four times up.

Tris Speaker, with three hits in five times at the bat today increased his lead over the American league batters by four points, as Ty Cobb lost one point with but one hit in four times up. Jackson's two hits in five trips to the plate held his average at .354.

Dave Robertson again was the only one of the three leaders in the National league to play, and his average did not change on three hits in nine times up. Daubert remains in the lead, with Hans Wagner third.

Lindale 12, Acworth 2.

Lindale, Ga., August 18.—(Special.)—The Lindale Leaders cut their twenty-fourth notch on their straight victory side of the stick today by defeating Acworth in a slugfest by the score of 12 to 2. Lindale batters secured 19 hits well scattered, some to right field, some to left field, some in the park and some out of the park, home runs, singles, doubles and triples. They stole ten bases and outclassed Acworth in several points.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Yanks 4, Indians 3.

New York, August 18.—New York made a clean sweep of the series with Cleveland today, winning an exciting 13-inning contest, 4 to 3. The Yankees now have won five straight games.

The game was a sensational pitchers' battle between two youngsters, Shocker and Lambeth, and both did splendid work. Lambeth did not permit a hit from the seventh inning until the thirteenth, when he met defeat.

White Sox 11, Red Sox 6.

Boston, August 18.—Chicago won from Boston today, 11 to 6, evening up the series at two games each. "Dutch" Leonard was batted from the box in the first inning. Gregg forced a run across with two passes. Wyckoff relieved Gregg and held the visitors well in hand until he gave way to a pinch hitter in the eighth. Shore, who pitched the final inning, allowed three singles, a double and pass, which, with three stolen bases, netted Chicago four runs.

Browns 4, Athletics 3.

Philadelphia, August 18.—A wild pitch by Bush with two men out and Marsans on third base gave St. Louis the winning run of an eleven-inning game here today, the score being 4 to 3. St. Louis got only two hits off Nabors, but these were bunched with two bases on balls and a sacrifice fly in the sixth inning and yielded three runs.

SOUTH ATLANTIC

Tourist 8, Tigers 1.

Macon, Ga., August 18.—Patterson gave up only three hits today and the Tourists won again from the Tigers by a score of 8 to 1. Macon tried out a new catcher, Shaw, from Clarksville, Tenn., and he obtained two of Macon's hits, both being doubles. Boyken, also from Clarksville, Tenn., played in left field. Goosetree was taken out in the first inning after walking four men in a row and forcing in three runs.

Scouts 2, Gamecocks 0.

Jacksonville, Fla., August 18.—Burmeister today pitched one of the greatest games of ball that has ever been twirled in the South Atlantic league. Nothing that resembled a hit was made off his delivery and only thirty men faced him in nine innings. Ferris, who worked for the visitors, was also extremely effective and held Jacksonville to a pair of bingles. Aside from the great pitching the fielding of Stewart was a feature. Burmeister struck out ten men. The final score was 2 to 0 in favor of Jacksonville.

Gulls 3, Foxes 3.

Columbus, Ga., August 18.—Columbus and Charleston battled for eight innings this afternoon to a tie, 3 to 3. The locals had three good chances to win the game, but let their opportunities slip away from them by poor base running. The visitors also had two good chances to win and their errors caused the score to be tied. The field work of both sets of outfielders featured. The game was started late on account of rain and was called in the eighth on account of darkness.

Score by innings:		R.	H.	E.

Canton 7, Marietta 3.

Canton defeated Marietta Wednesday on the latter's home ground by the score of 7 to 3.

The features of the game were the pitching of Aiken, who struck out fourteen of the hard-hitting Marietta athletes, and the hitting of Simpson and Morris, of Canton. Carl Thompson, ex-Cracker, was secured by the home team to do the hurling for them, but he had to retire at the end of the fifth inning under a bombardment of hits. Kemp, who took up the pitching duties held the Canton team in check for the remainder of the game, but he was too late in taking the hill, as Canton had secured too large a lead for his teammates to overcome.

JAP PLAYS TENNIS CHAMP IN FINALS

Defeated Griffin, While Johnston Won From Throckmorton for Casino Cup.

Newport, R. I., August 18.—William M. Johnston, national champion, and I. Kumagae, the Japanese player, won their matches in the semi-finals of the Casino invitation lawn tennis tournament today and will meet tomorrow in the final for the challenge cup.

Johnston defeated Harold A. Throckmorton, of Elizabeth, N. J., in a four-set match, although the youthful player made a gallant fight.

Kumagae, for the fifth time this season, defeated Clarence J. Griffin, of California, the greater endurance of the Japanese champion showing toward the end of the five-set contest.

The Johnston-Throckmorton match was played on the court before the club house and afforded plenty of brilliant tennis to interest the crowd. Thockmorton, with his smashing service and drives at the net, seemed to outplay Johnston in the first set and won, 6-4, but Johnston fathomed his opponent's play and soon had him running all over the court.

Queries Answered.

(Under this head the sporting editor will endeavor to answer all questions pertaining to all branches of sports.)

Batter strikes and tips ball, runner on third base, catcher throws ball to third base and he touches him before he gets back. Is the runner out? A. C.

Yes, if catcher caught tip.

1. What is Frank Thrasher's fielding average? How many chances he has had and how many errors he has made? 2. Also give me the number of games won and the number lost by Perry, Day and Brennan. 3. Don't you think that the Crackers have the best outfield in the Southern league? W. E.

1. One hundred and fifty-six chances and four errors. 2. Perry has won 18, lost 17, Day, 12 and 10, Brennan, 13 and 7. 3. Yes.

Can Winder rightfully claim the north Georgia baseball title?—A MONROE FAN.

She can claim anything she wants to. It's up to some one to disprove her claim.

PAUL MEETS BOWDEN IN ASHEVILLE FINALS

Asheville, N. C., August 18.—W. M. Paul, of Charlotte, champion of the Carolinas, will meet Whitney Bowden, of New Orleans, tomorrow in the finals of the August invitation golf tournament here. Paul today defeated William Wallace, of Richmond, one up in a sensational 18-hole match and later won from William A. Knight, of Asheville, 5 up and 4 to play. Bowden defeated Vonno L. Gudger, of Asheville. Bowden's victory over Gudger, was rather easy, the score being 5 up and 4 to play.

Washington 2, Monroe 0.

Monroe, Ga., August 18.—(Special.)—Washington defeated Monroe on the local ground this afternoon by the tune of 2 to 0. Washington greatly outhit the locals, but superior fielding kept the score as low as it was. The entire Monroe club has been off color with the stick for the past week.

Score by innings:		R.	H.	E.

Thomson 4, Millen 1.

Millen, Ga., August 18.—(Special.)—In a ragged game of ball here this afternoon Thomson defeated Millen by a score of 4 to 1. Numerous errors were made by both sides, with Millen probably excelling. Gheesling, for Thomson, struck out three men, and Puckett, for Millen, struck out eight men. Each side made three safe hits only. Thomson scored three times in the fourth inning and once in the eighth inning. Millen scored once in the second inning.

Batteries—Thomson, Gheesling and Mangum; Millen, Puckett and Monahan.

Barons 4, Chicks 2.

Memphis, August 18.—With the score tied, two out and two on bases in the eleventh inning today Barger purposely walked Meusel in the hope of retiring Clark, but instead the Birmingham infielder drove the ball to the fence and two runs scored, giving the visitors a 4 to 2 victory over Memphis. Meusel's home run accounted for the first Birmingham run and Eschen's triple and an error gave the Barons their other tally. Dobard's home run in the third inning and bunched hits in the fourth gave Memphis its runs.

Vols 3, Gulls 2.

Nashville, August 18.—Street's long drive to left field in the eleventh inning with one out and the bases full gave Nashville the winning run and the second game of the series, 3 to 2. Ellam was intentionally passed by Ledbetter to get to Street, after Kauffman beat out an infield hit and took third on Kores' single to right.

Up until the eighth inning Ledbetter had allowed Nashville but two scattered hits and had struck out ten batters. He was given a two-run lead in the sixth on three bunched hits. But a wild throw, a passed ball and sacrifice fly gave Nashville one in the eighth. Two singles and the squeeze play tied the score in the ninth.

The Georgia Railway and Power company baseball team will play Stone Mountain at Ponce de Leon park this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, and a splendid game can be expected. A small admission fee will be charged. Ladies will be admitted free.

MAYER MADE FIRST ERROR IN 41 GAMES

Wild Heave Thursday, First Miscue in 107 Straight Chances.

Sammy Mayer had an error coming to him, and he should not be condemned for the wild heave in Thursday's game, even if it did cost a ball game.

This wild throw was the first miscue Sammy had uncorked in forty-one straight games. It was after handling 106 chances perfectly. Time he was booting one.

Toccoa-Cornelia Break Even.

Toccoa, Ga., August 18.—(Special.)—Toccoa and Cornelia split in a double-header here this afternoon, Toccoa winning the first, 5 to 4, and Cornelia the second, 3 to 2. Edwards, for Toccoa, hurled good ball in the first game, while in the second Adams lost his own game by a wild pitch.

TENNIS TOURNEY NEARS COMPLETION

Practically All Matches Will Be Finished Today Except Finals, Which Are Postponed Two Weeks.

DANCE TONIGHT ON COURTS.

The West End Tennis club will give a dance tonight on the tennis courts, which are hard enough for anyone to do all the latest steps on. The public is extended a cordial invitation by the tennis club to come and enjoy itself. A large flash-light will follow the best looking couple around the floor. Refreshments will be served.

By Hal Reynolds.

For the second time during the tourney rain held up the play in the Georgia state tennis tourney at West End yesterday afternoon. The afternoon matches had just got started when the rain came.

The ladies' singles event is the only one that has reached the final round, which will be played this afternoon at 5 o'clock between Mrs. J. R. McCord and Mrs. John Milam. The former won the right to enter the final by defeating Miss Gertrude Orr, 6-2, 6-3, while Mrs. Milam downed Miss Estelle Withers in the semi-final 6-2, 6-3.

Neither Mrs. McCord nor Mrs. Milam have had to exert themselves to any great extent in reaching the final, so a close game is expected this afternoon when they tie up.

In the men's singles two youngsters disposed of two veterans in the fifth round. Ben Rhett had an easy time defeating Garrett Porter 6-0, 6-2, while Stewart Harris put out Percy Cox after a brilliant and gruelling match that went three sets. The scores were 2-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Ben Rhett has been playing some fast tennis throughout the tourney, reaching the semi-finals yesterday when he beat Garrett Porter 6-0, 6-2. Rhett has made a remarkable record in number of games won and lost in the meet. He has won 36 games and lost but three, having a record of four consecutive love sets, and a run of 26 straight games to his credit.

Rhett drew a bye to start off with. He then defeated C. E. Giles 6-1, 6-0 in the second round; G. H. Faust by default in the third round; H. B. Taylor, 6-0, 6-0 in the fourth round and Garrett Porter in the fifth round 6-0, 6-2. This is an achievement that anyone should be proud to own.

In the men's doubles, the team of Jennings and Harris advanced to the semi-finals yesterday by winning two stiff matches. They defeated Taylor and Dunn 6-3, 6-1 in the fifth round, and Mason and Moore in the sixth round 6-3, 6-3.

Today's Matches.

There are a number of extra good matches on the schedule for today that will be well worth attending. In the semi-finals in the upper bracket, in the men's doubles, Smith and Mansfield will meet Jennings and Harris at 10 o'clock this morning. This will be a case of veterans vs. youth and should be hard fought.

Orr and Carter are now in the sixth round of the doubles, and present indications are that they will work their way through to the finals, most likely meeting Smith and Mansfield.

In the men's singles, Carleton Smith and Stewart Harris will meet for the right of entering the semi-finals at 3 o'clock. Harris has been playing crack tennis since the start of the tourney and deserves much credit for getting as far as he has. He has beaten some good ones, but will be up against something else today.

The winner of the Smith-Harris match will meet the winner of the Mansfield-Czintz match to determine the entry in the final in the upper bracket. In the lower bracket, Ben Rhett has already reached the semi-finals. He will meet the winner of the Hunt-Holtzendorff match, in which Hunt was leading five love in the opening set yesterday when the rain came.

Provided Hunt reaches the semi-finals, he will meet Rhett this afternoon at 5 o'clock. Both these youngsters play the same style of tennis, the chopping game, and their match should be one of the closest and most interesting of the week.

Due to the invitation tennis tourney at Asheville opening up next week, and the fact that the entries in the semi-finals and finals in the present tourney are going to Asheville, these matches will not be played until two weeks from today.

Yesterday's results follow:

LADIES' SINGLES.

Semi-Finals.

Mrs. McCord defeated Miss Gertrude Orr, 6-2, 6-3.

Mrs. Milam defeated Miss Estelle Withers, 6-2, 6-3.

MEN'S DOUBLES.

Fifth Round.

Wilburn and Scott defeated Fraser and Williamson, 6-2, 6-1.

Jennings and Harris defeated Taylor and Dunn, 6-3, 6-1.

Smith and Mansfield defeated Smith and Draper, 6-4, 6-2.

Sixth Round.

Wilburn and Scott defeated Watson and Lowe, 6-0, 6-2.

Williamson and Czintz defeated Christopher and Hall, Douglas, Ga., 6-2, 8-6.

Jennings and Harris defeated Mason and Moore, Macon, Ga., 6-3, 6-3.

WESTERN GOLF TITLE WON BY WALTER HAGEN

Milwaukee, Wis., August 18.—Walter Hagen, professional of Rochester, N. Y., today added the western open golf championship to his list of honors by completing the 72-hole medal contest on the Blue Mound Country club links in 286 strokes. This score equals that made by Chick Evans, of Chicago, in winning the national open title at Minneapolis, recently, establishing a record for 72 holes in national competition. Hagen recently won the Metropolitan championship and three years ago won the national title.

Hagen had only one stroke to spare as George Sargent, of Minneapolis, and Jack Hutchinson, of Pittsburg, tied for second place with 287. George O. Simpson, of Oak Park club, Chicago, and James Barnes, of Philadelphia, followed with 288 each. These five men won all the prizes as Simpson, with a wonderful 66 in the third round this forenoon, took the special prize for best score during the tournament and established a record for the 5,916-yard course.

Hagen stepped to the seventeenth tee, knowing that he had to make two fours to win. He drove 275 yards straight down the hilly fair way and pitched to the far side of the blind green. His 30-foot putt was dead and he made the required score. On the eighteenth tee Hagen took his cleek and drove 200 yards straight for the pin over the tricky swales and uphill, stopping 30 yards short of the pin. His approach fas twenty feet short, but his third shot was within 18 inches of the hole and he made the second necessary four for the title.

RESTA BREAKS RECORD ON CHICAGO SPEEDWAY

Manager R. J. Murphy, of the Atlanta branch of the B. F. Goodrich company, yesterday received a telegram apprising him of the fact that Silvertown cord tires have achieved another victory, to add to its long list and which list is added to every time this brand of tire is put to a test.

According to the wire to Mr. Murphy, Dario Resta, the famous "speed demon," in a Peugot on Silvertown cord tires, made a lap at the Chicago speedway last Thursday in one minute and 23.44 seconds. His average speed was 113 miles an honr—the fastest time ever made on any track. The Silvertowns shattered another record.

INDIANS AND SENATORS PULL OFF A TRADE

Washington, August 18.—Pitcher Joe Boehling and Outfielder Dan Moeller have been traded to the Cleveland Americans for Outfielder Smith and Infinder Leonard, Manager Griffith, of the Nationals, announced today.

Jersey Team Wins.

Jersey, Ga., August 18.—(Special.)—Jersey defeated Oxford here yesterday afternoon in a very one-sided game, the score being 11 to 2 in favor of Jersey. Feature of the game was the batting by Jersey boys.

This was the last game of the season for the local team. Jersey has played 20 games this season and lost only five. The Jersey team is composed of home boys and is not excelled by any amateur team in the state, playing its home boys. Batteries: Jersey, McGarity and Gibson; Oxford, Battle and Stone.

Bentley Released.

Washington, August 18.—John Bentley, pitcher, was sent to the Baltimore International league club today by Manager Griffith, of the Washington American league club.

8 MACHINE GUNS ARE NOW ON WAY TO GA. TROOPERS

By Frank Craigie.

Camp Harris, Macon, Ga., August 18. (Special.)—With the temperature down a degree or two, and with spirits correspondingly up, the olive-drab soldiers of the guard are hearing little sounds like news.

Captain W. E. Welsh, U. S. A., suggested service amid Alaskan snows when a carload of blankets rolled down the camp siding today. There are no thermometers in camp. The method of establishing heat is to flap hands and count the drops that fall from the fingers. Those blankets—fifty-one hundred of them—looked warm and comfortable today. Anyway, they are here now, for the snows above the timber line in Mexican mountains, or for the Christmas blizzard at Camp Harris.

Somewhere in America, steadily moving this way, are eight Lewis automatic machine guns and ten special "flivver" trucks, to be divided equally between the machine gun companies of the First and the Fifth regiments. When this equipment arrives it will be held in escrow, or in hock, as it were, until the respective regiments show a full complement of men to handle them.

Every day or two a little bunch of recruits are steered into camp and slipped into the line among the wise ones who have been here long enough to teach them their lessons. They average five or six a day; and the process seems a slow one; but, spread over several weeks, these additions count up fairly well.

SANITARIUM FUND NOT LARGE ENOUGH, SAYS DR. WRIGHT

Augusta, Ga., August 18.—(Special.) Dr. Thomas R. Wright, chairman of the executive committee of the state sanitarium board, who has just returned from Milledgeville, declared today that the $200,000 appropriation made by the legislature for the sanitarium would not suffice for the pressing needs of the institution. Dr. Wright was very much elated, however, that a start had been made. He said that most of the money would probably be spent for a building for negro women, though the board has not definitely determined this. There are now 4,200 patients in the institution and they are all uncomfortably crowded.

NEGRO SLAYER FOUND BY SHERIFF OF COBB

Marietta, Ga., August 18.—(Special.) Sheriff W. E. Swanson returned today from Knoxville, Tenn., where he secured from the Knoxville authorities Fred Petty, a negro wanted for murder in Cobb county. About twelve months ago Petty shot and killed another negro by the name of "Doc" Brannen and made good his escape. Petty's sister had been selling blind tiger whisky and Brannen had warned her that he would notify the officers. He was intercepted by Petty, who commanded him to stop. Upon his refusal Petty shot him to death. Petty will be tried at the next term of the Cobb superior court.

BIG COUNTIES MAY LOSE MANY CONVICTS BY LAW

Prison Board Will Have Sworn Measurement Made of All Roads.

Much speculation is being indulged in at the capitol and elsewhere as to the probable effect of the Burnside act requiring a new distribution of convicts among the counties according to road mileage. Under the hitherto existing law convicts have been allotted according to population. It is expected that, under the operation of the new law, Fulton, Chatham, Bibb and the larger counties generally will lose a great portion of their present allotment.

Fulton will be particularly hard hit, according to Chairman Oscar Mills, of the public works committee of the board of county commissioners, as this county is small in area and has road mileage much below the average. It is anticipated that most of the road improvements will now have to be made by private contract.

The suggestion has been made, however, that city streets might be construed as public roads, and, in that case, Fulton will be entitled to her full share of convicts. The question may be raised before the prison commission when the new allotment comes to be made.

In regard to the matter, Prison Commissioner Rainey said Friday:

"Of course, the commission can take no action until we have read the law and know its provisions. I can state however, that the first thing that will be done will be to require the boards of commissioners in the respective counties to have a careful measure next made of all the roads in their counties, and these measurements sworn to. That will be necessary before we can make any re-allotment of the convicts.

"Since the last allotment, which was made in 1910 in accordance with the census of that year, the number of convicts has increased 40 per cent. At first many of the counties declined to take convicts, allowing their allotments to go to other counties, but now nearly all the counties use their own quota of convicts."

AUGUSTA EAGLES WIN SECOND PRIZE FOR DEGREE WORK

Savannah, Ga., August 18.—With the exception of the installation of officers, the Grand aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles today completed its business. The officers will be installed tomorrow morning by Delegate Cary E. Smith, past grand worthy president, of Spokane, the ceremony bringing to a close the eighteenth annual meeting that has been in session here since Monday.

At a business session this morning the ritualistic committee, of which Herbert Choynski, of San Francisco, is chairman, reported the winners of the degree team contest held last night. Worcester, Mass., first, with Augusta, Ga., second. The other teams finished as named: Milwaukee, Indianapolis, Akron, Ohio.

William L. Grayson, retiring grand worthy president, was presented with a chest of silver of 226 pieces. Louis Garfunkel, of Savannah, deputy grand president for Georgia, was given a handsome sapphire and diamond scarf pin. Both were the gifts of the grand aerie.

Although the convention does not officially close until tomorrow, a majority of the delegates have left for their homes.

Today's program in addition to the business meeting, included an "open house" at the Hermitage plantation, where the delegates visited during the day. Tomorrow the only feature of the program is the installation of officers.

BRADLEY FALLS DEAD IN CARROLLTON STORE

Carrollton, Ga., August 18.—(Special.)—M. M. Bradley fell dead of acute indigestion at his store here this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Mr. Bradley was one of the most prominent business men of this section and had hosts of friends throughout the entire state. He was about forty years of age and was a prominent Mason. Mr. Bradley married Miss Jennie Gardner, of Atlanta, several years ago, who survives him.

HE BREAKS JAIL ON EVE OF DAY SET FOR HANGING

Brunswick, Ga., August 18.—(Special.)—Aaron Williams, a negro convicted of the killing of Willie Newman, a negro constable, by stabbing on last Christmas afternoon and who was to have been hanged in Glynn county jail this morning, escaped last night a few minutes before the placing of the death watch, and has not been apprehended. With the aid of a small saw the condemned man gained his liberty by sawing through a number of heavy steel and iron bars.

MAYOR OF MARIETTA WILL WAR ON SPEEDERS

Marietta, Ga., August 18.—(Special.) Mayor Brumby today issued a card to the public through the press warning them that speeding must be stopped inside the corporate limits of Marietta. Thoroughly aroused by several recent automobile accidents, the mayor has instructed the police department to arrest all autoists who are exceeding the speed limit and hale them into court. He promises to fine them not less than $25.00 and intimates that unless the speeding is stopped he will resort to even sterner punishment.

Coffee.

New York, August 18.—The market for coffee futures was comparatively quiet today and fluctuations were correspondingly narrow. After opening unchanged to one point lower, prices showed a tendency to ease off, however, owing to the absence of any important support and September contracts sold down from 8.68 to 8.65, while March eased off from 8.90 to 8.85. Reports that Brazil was a little more inclined to sell seemed to promote scattering liquidation and there also may have been a little trade selling on the decline, although no lower offers were reported in the cost and freight market. The market closed at an advance of 1 point on August, but generally 3 to 4 points lower. Sales, 28,000.

Spot, dull; Rio 7's, 9½c; Santos 4's, 10⅞c. The lowest offers of Santos 4's reported in the cost and freight market were 10.70c London credits. The official cables reported an advance of 75 reis at Rio while Santos spots were unchanged and futures unchanged to 25 reis higher. Rio exchange on London 1-16d lower. Brazilian port receipts, 62,000; Jundiahy, 39,000. Victoria cleared 12,000 and Santos 92,000 for New York. Temperatures in Sao Paulo ranged from 39 to 84 degrees.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, August 18.—Cotton seed oil was firmer on scattered buying for long account, as well as short covering, due largely to the pronounced strength in lard. Final prices were generally 2 to 11 points net higher. Sales, 23,600 barrels.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, August 18.—(Special.)—All hands are talking about what the special report will show. [illegible] shows 67 on September 1, it will [illegible] as large a crop as 72.3 pointed on [illegible] 1—or in round figures, 14,000,000 [illegible] when linters are included. The gen[illegible] impression prevails that the crop is on [illegible] toboggan, but this morning official [illegible] warnings were posted along the [illegible] coast and it was this suggestion of [illegible] in Texas that caused for a time an [illegible] market. If we are to have peace, [illegible] we are to have a complete crop disa[illegible] either or both of these could carry [illegible] seriously higher. But with an acreage of 36,000,000 or four million larger than [illegible] year, it will require not only a [illegible] crop but almost a disaster to bring abo[illegible] an inadequate supply. We do not know nor do we think anyone else knows what the stock is at European mills, we feel reasonably sure that surrounded now as they are that the Teutonic nations will get no cotton and that the spinning of the coming crop will devolve upon those who are outside the war zone. We note with pleasure the immense increase of American spinning and absorption, but a goodly portion of this is linters which in turn shows largely increased relative yield. We are hopeful that American business the coming season may be as good, or better than last year, but not only are American mills carrying a maximum stock of history, but likewise the ports and interior towns have with the exception of last year, their maximum stock, and regardless of all statements to the contrary the counted points in Europe, eliminating Germany and Austria, are carrying the largest supply of cotton ever carried in their history, except last year. The price and the statistics are bearish; the sentiment, the crop news and the weather are for the moment bullish. Bears will not sell until rains, or until the September report is out of the way. The farmer will probably be the best bear in a week or so for but few of them will refuse to accept present prices and barring the lateness of the crop a very heavy pressing movement may be expected in contrast with a decided tendency to hold a year ago.

RENSKORF, LYON & CO.

New York, August 18.—(Special.)—Although the tropical storm entered the gulf today and brought heavy rain to Victoria, Texas, it had the effect of inducing selling in this market based upon the theory that it might strike inland with diminished force and bring much needed rain to the interior of Texas and Oklahoma. As usual, however, the market showed a good buying power and easily absorbed offerings at the decline. Crop reports are unfavorable and while the early marketing season may force some recession in prices, we believe this will only be temporary and that their tendency will continue upward.

BOND, M'ENANY & CO.

New York, August 18.—(Special.)—The Liverpool market this morning was 12 American points higher than the American parity, but the New York market opened with only a slight advance and declined under selling by operators who were led to believe that the tropical storm in the gulf would extend westward and bring much needed rain in the state of Texas. On the decline in price, the trade bought some contracts and there was a subsequent recovery in price. The market is very sensitive to weather reports, especially those which have the appearance of being favorable to crop development. Private advices received today indicate further deterioration throughout the belt and speculation will soon begin to discount an unfavorable government crop report to be issued on September 1.

J. W. JAY & CO.

New York, August 18.—The forecast by the government that the gulf storm would pass over Texas with predictions of rain there and unsettled weather in Oklahoma dominated the market during the day, notwithstanding the decline in crop conditions reported through private sources. This estimate was generally known here yesterday afternoon. It caused the advance in Liverpool today, but it did not attract any outside buying because of the predictions of rain in Texas. A small uncovered short interest was disclosed in August, which brought a relative advance in October. At the close selling orders from Texas, supposed to come from houses there, brought about a quick decline from a recovery which was in progress under the bidding for August. The market has been a narrow one all day awaiting the effect and course of the gulf storm.

SELLING PRESSURE CURBS STEEL RISE

Delay in Rail Labor Negotiations at Washington Caused Hesitation and Reaction in All Groups.

New York, August 18.—To the further delay in the railway labor negotiations at Washington was attributed much of the hesitation and occasional reaction of today's market. Trading was very active, however, but restricted more than recently to the better known speculative favorites shipping shares, United States Steel and Reading forming a very large percentage of the session's business.

Mercantile Marines were again the leaders, with a new high record for the preferred on its gross gain of 4¾ points to 103¾, part of which was forfeited later on cables from London indicating future restrictions against companies under foreign control. Marine common was almost as prominent as the preferred, rising ⅝ to 38⅛, very near its maximum. Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies and United Fruit wrested leadership from the marines in the final hour, the former attaining a new high price on its extreme advance of 2⅜ to 71, while fruit, in which dealings attained unusual proportions, advanced steadily to 168½, an overnight gain of 6¾ points.

United States Steel failed to duplicate its recent daily performance of mounting to higher levels, at no time reaching yesterday's best price and plainly denoting realizing sales. Shares of minor steel companies were firm to strong, the conspicuous features being Colorado Fuel, Republic Iron and Steel, Great Northern Ore and Virginia Coal, Iron and Coke.

Mexicans were conspicuous at higher levels during the forenoon, petroleum and American Smelting featuring that class, but here also profit-taking proved effective. Motors and munitions moved irregularly, mostly lower. Rails were comparatively inactive, Reading, St. Paul and Rock Island reflecting pressure. High priced specialties were represented by Cuban-American Sugar, which rose 12½ points on a single sale to 250.

Bonds were steady with total sales, par value, $2,860,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

ALL CHICAGO LIST ON VIGOROUS RISE

Corn Values Are Highest on Record—Precarious Crop Outlook Boosts Wheat. Seaboard Call Sends Provisions Upward.

Chicago, August 18.—The wheat market went booming upward again today following the lead of Winnipeg which, like this market, was affected by renewed pessimism of Canadian crop reports as made by experts of private houses. A rumor gained currency that the Canadian government would commandeer the crop, but this was denied at Winnipeg. At the top today prices here were up 5c and the close was 3½ to 4¼ over yesterday. Corn advanced 1¼ to 2⅜ in sympathy with wheat and reports of further hot weather in the corn belt. Bullish crop advices helped oats, which jumped 1 to 1¼. Provisions closed 15 to 30c over yesterday.

There was nothing startlingly new in the reports of damage to the Canadian crop, but the confirmation of the gloomy outlook apparently added influential converts to the bull position and the result was a big broad market which absorbed heavy profit-taking sales almost without a quiver until near the close, when a cent was conceded from the top. Cash premiums advanced to the highest of the season, with a good export demand and light offerings. France added to the bull enthusiasm, advices on the crop of that country placing it at 100,000,000 bushels under normal. European weather generally was reported unfavorable, as was that of the Argentine.

The corn crop which blistered for several weeks under a scorching sun, was said to be suffering further from another hot wave. Kansas reports as to the corn crop outlook for that state were pessimistic. Cash prices advanced ½ and No. 2 yellow sold at 89½c, the highest price on record. The market was big, active and strong.

Oats livened up in sympathy with other grains and on a private estimate lowering the crop by 69,000,000 bushels since August 1. Spot prices were higher, with export bids close to the market.

In provisions a large business was said to have been done in lard for export. The market showed unwonted volume and activity.

New York, August 18.—Relief from tropical storm apprehension and prospects for rains in the southwest seemed to be chiefly responsible for rather a sharp break in the cotton market during today's early trading. December contracts sold off from 14.55 to 14.36, but later rallied to 14.47 and closed at 14.43. The general list closed barely steady at a net advance of 16 points on August, but generally 3 to 6 points lower.

The market opened steady at an advance of 4 to 7 points which was not a full response to the firmness in Liverpool. The publication of a private crop report placing the condition at 69.8 per cent compared with 75.8 per cent two weeks previously may have prompted some scattered buying, but offerings increased right after the call on the more optimistic view of the gulf storm situation. Official reports indicated that the disturbance was moving toward the mouth of the Rio Grande and an impression that it would cause beneficial rains in the southwest was strengthened by the western belt forecast for rains in east Texas and unsettled conditions in Oklahoma.

After the past two or three days of nervousness over the course of this storm which had appeared in the Caribbean sea early in the week, these reports caused a good deal of scattering liquidation and a renewal of local pressure under which October eased off to 14.17 and January to 14.44 or about 12 points under last night's closing figures. Trade interests were reported to be buying on the decline, however, and prices steadied later on reports that the storm might be working too far south to bring the desired rains to the southwest and covering by near-month shorts who were supposed to be influenced by rumors that further shipments were to be made from the comparatively small local stock.

There was also spot buying of August, which led the advance selling up to 14.25 and closing at 14.40 bid, but the rally to 14.29 for October and 14.54 for January was followed by reactions under renewed realizing.

Spot cotton steady; middling uplands 14.40; sales 1,006 bales.

New Orleans Sags 4 to 5 Points.

New Orleans, August 18.—A small bulge featured the early trading in cotton today, but the effect of hurricane reports was against rather than with the market. Fluctuations were nervous the session through and the comment of the market was chiefly regarding the storm. Liverpool was much better than due on storm news, and in this market in the early trading considerable buying was done because of the fear of damage to the growing crop as the gulf disturbance worked inland. A little later the impression grew that the storm was not of great intensity and that the rains attending it would be of immense benefit to Texas and selling increased. On the early bulge prices were sent 7 to 9 points over yesterday's close. From this there was a drop of nearly $1 a bale, the market standing at a net loss of 9 to 11 points around the middle of the day. In the afternoon there was little business and the close was at a net loss of 4 to 5 points.

A private bureau report on condition, showing a loss of 6 points during the last fortnight, was a bullish feature which helped steady the market at the decline and restricted selling. A feature of interest was the report that a large line of long cotton held by a Texas trader had been forced into liquidation on the decline. The dry weather in the eastern belt was against the market, but bullish traders were encouraged by the rise of 13 points in spot quotations to 14.13 for middling, a new high level.

Sugar.

New York, August 18.—The local market for raw sugar was dull and unchanged. Holders were still willing to sell Cubas at 4⅝ cost and freight, in store and afloat, but refiners did not seem disposed to pay this price, although they would pay 4½ cents. Rather than accept the low offers of refiners, holders were said to be placing their sugars in store. Closing prices were 4⅝ for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to 5.75 for centrifugal and 4.48 for molasses, all nominal.

No new developments occurred in refined sugar, and prices were unchanged at 7.00 to 7.25 for fine granulated. The country continues to buy only in a very limited way and withdrawals on old contract were light.

In futures orders seemed to be pretty well divided and closing quotations were from 2 points higher to 1 point lower. Trading was quieter with operators awaiting fresh developments in the spot market. Total sales for the day were 3,400 tons, including switches of October to March at 55 points.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES, FROM DAY TO DAY

Real estate news was featured yesterday by the sale of a Whitehall street parcel on which a large cash payment was made.

The Smith & Ewing agency sold for Charles R. Gaskill, of Huntsville, Texas, formerly of Atlanta, to T. C. Greene, of Eatonton, Ga., the northwest corner of Whitehall street and Trinity avenue, the consideration being $47,000. A cash payment of $27,000 was made.

This property consists of a three-story and basement brick building on a lot fronting 29 feet on Whitehall and having a depth on Trinity of 107 feet.

The property will be improved for tenants.

J. H. Ewing, of Smith & Ewing, handled the sale.

Maddox Application Filed.

Robert F. Maddox, formerly mayor of Atlanta, Friday filed application for permit to erect a building at the northeast corner of Peachtree and Ellis streets. According to the application the building will cost $60,000. This is a considerable boost to August building values.

A. Ten Eyck Brown is the architect, and the Griffin Construction company contractors.

Excavations for foundation of this building have already been completed, and construction work will start at once. The building will contain two stories and basement, and will be of brick and concrete construction. The lot is 55x190 to an alley. A part of the building has already been leased for five years to the Cadillac company.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW ON BUSINESS SITUATION

New York, August 18.—Dun's Review tomorrow will say:

"It is still noteworthy that existing uncertainties have scarcely a discernible influence on the course of legitimate business, which, with few exceptions, reflects sustained activity and in some of its more important branches shows further augmentation.

"Distinct gains appear in steel and iron and in copper, as well as in dry goods, and it is significant of conditions in widely divergent lines and sections that producers are either not in a position or are disinclined to accept all the contracts offered. Most of the works are sold ahead as far as they care to be with present doubts about supplies and costs of raw materials, while it becomes increasingly difficult to secure an adequate number of competent hands and in some instances ouputs fall short of requirements. The prevailing high prices and the inability of many manufacturers to give definite assurance of prompt deliveries combine to deter buying considerably, but in most cases forward commitments continue notably large and are characterized by an almost entire absence of speculative tendencies."

Weekly bank clearings $3,691,246,843.

Dry Goods.

New York, August 18.—The cotton goods market continued active and firm today. Denims were called for in a large way by cutters and jobbers. One line of ticking was advanced ¼c a yard. Wool was more active. Cotton goods were higher.

Sheriff Has to Hold Back Crowd at Dorsey Meeting

Over a Thousand Voters Unable to Get Into Courthouse at Carnesville—Big Crowd Also at Toccoa.

BY BRITT CRAIG.
(Special Staff Correspondent.)

Carnesville, Ga., August 18.—(Special.)—Averaging four and five occupants to each, more than five hundred vehicles, mostly automobiles, were parked in town this afternoon when Hugh M. Dorsey addressed a crowd unequaled in north Georgia in the Franklin county courthouse. Conservative estimates are that at least 1,200 of the 2,400 persons who came to hear the Atlantan were unable to get in the courthouse. The address scheduled for 3 o'clock, Sheriff John W. Wansley was compelled at 2 o'clock to place bailiffs at the entrance to fight back the overflow which threatened to crowd the place to suffocation.

Sight of Dorsey was signal for a rousing outburst which was echoed back by the dense throngs seated and standing in the park, where hundreds of eager necks were craned for sight of the candidate. The courtroom aisles were so thickly packed with humanity that the speaker was considerably delayed in reaching the rostrum.

Wagers at long odds were being offered this afternoon that Dorsey would carry the county by a majority of not less than ten to one, an achievement unparalleled in this section of the state. No bets were placed because of the absence of anti-Dorsey money.

Carnesville is a town of perhaps five hundred population. It is isolated from railroads, but despite this fact voters poured in over every thoroughfare from Banks, Stephens, Madison and even Dr. L. G. Hardman's native county, Jackson. It was Carnesville's bussiest day and an event that will go down in the town's history.

Dorsey was introduced by A. C. Carson, one of the best known planters of Franklin, who lightly commented that it was unnecessary for the speaker to visit the territory, due to the fact that the county had fully made up its mind to vote for Dorsey the moment it digested his platform.

Toccoa also turned out a record-breaking audience which filled the courthouse to capacity. Judge D. W. Owens introduced the Atlantan with a short address in which he assured Dorsey adherents that Stephens county would go to Dorsey by the biggest majority the county has ever presented a gubernatorial aspirant. The audience was composed of representatives from Habersham, Franklin and Banks counties as well as the largest political gathering Stephens county has ever turned out.

VETERAN, AGED 60, WALKS TEN MILES TO HEAR DORSEY

Clayton, Ga., August 18.—(Special.)—Jeremiah Collins walked ten miles from the isolated region of Rabun county beyond Yonah mountain to hear Hugh Dorsey speak at Clarkesville yesterday morning.

He started shortly after midnight, after having gone to bed at 6 o'clock. Setting out with a sturdy young sapling for a walking stick, he trudged the dusty roads for six hours, reaching Clarkesville in time for breakfast, which he had brought with him done up in a paper bundle.

He was an object of wide interest as he crossed the town square on the way to the courthouse; a tall, gaunt, aged old man, with a patriarchal white beard that reached to his bosom, and wearing a dusty black hat of unusual width. His shoes were yellow with dust, and his trousers were heavy with it, while his shoulders gave forth a cloud of powdery yellow when acquaintances struck him on the back in greeting.

"I was bound to hear Hugh Dorsey, and it looked like this might be the last chance, so I came ahead." He is at least sixty years old, and the farthest journey he ever took from the hills was with Longstreet in the sixties. "I was bound to see for myself if he is the sort of man the people say he is.

Everybody Talking Dorsey.

"Up my way everybody's talking about Hugh Dorsey. They say there ain't a man in the state that's got more nerve, and if he's a fighting man like they say, I wasn't bent on missing seeing him. He'll be the first governor I've seen since General Gordon.

"I can tell a man pretty well after I've heard him talk and set my eyes on him. And if Dorsey is the man everybody has him down as being, I'll know it by the time he gets through speaking. It's just about time such a man was being put in the statehouse. The people are wanting a new order of things. It's got to a point where old Georgia needs somebody to wake her up and start something."

Jeremiah Collins is illustrative of the northeast Georgia mind. He wants a high-tension man in office; a man of principle, courage, honesty, sincerity of purpose. He is tired of seeing state affairs rock along on the age-old course of ordinary politics. As is the case with the typical north Georgian, especially of those in the remote sections, Jeremiah Collins looks upon things that stand for progress, in a fighting light.

The mountaineer believes that all things worthy are achieved by hard fighting. The harder the fight, the greater the fighter, the greater the victory. Nothing is sustaining without being fought for. It is the old "by the sweat of the brow" rule aggressively applied.

Dorsey a Fighter.

North Georgia believes in Hugh Dorsey as a fighter. The old veterans picture him as a leader in the charge for integrity. The younger generation picture him sitting down to his desk with his fists doubled. The women see him firm and unyielding, aggressive, manly.

I took pains to see Jeremiah Collins when Dorsey's speech was finished. The old man stomped with his stick down the courthouse steps, taking cautious steps and using his free hand to feel the way along the wall.

"Well, what do you think of him, Mr. Collins?"

"What do you think of him?"

"Well, I—"

"Well, I—" the old man mocked. "Well, I don't care what you think. That's the man, and I want to meet him. Where is he?"

At Clarkesville Thursday Judge J. B. Jones, presiding over the Northeastern circuit superior court, which is in session, ordered an hour and thirty minutes recess that the immense crowd of Habersham voters might hear their gubernatorial favorite.

Jury Brought Out.

The case in progress was a damage suit, on which the jury had been serving for two days. Judge Jones commanded the bailiffs to reserve seats for the women, hundreds of whom were seeking entrance. Then he ordered the jury brought out to hear the address.

"You are to talk to no one regarding the case on which you are serving," he said to the twelve jurors. "I am glad to have a courtroom audience to hear a man with the codes of Hugh Dorsey."

This is the first time of my knowledge that a jury on duty has been accorded the privilege of hearing a political discussion.

And the twelve men listened intently as the speaker dwelt upon his stand for the welfare of Georgia's judiciary. There were many court authorities in the audience, including a number of visiting judges. They, too, were deeply interested in Dorsey's discourse. At times the applause was thunderous.

Except for the outbursts of applause, the speech did not resemble a political event, so much as it resembled an address of judicial importance.

There is nothing lukewarm about Hugh Dorsey. He is a man intense of character, of purpose, of principle. His doctrines infuse a surging current of spirit into his hearers. And it isn't accomplished through the emotions, for, if there is anything less colorful than The Congressional Record, it is a Dorsey address, which I can liken only to the discourse of an efficiency expert, who goes before the ranks of a great corporation and explains in a convincing, compelling manner, just how the ranks may better theirs and their employer's interests.

He convinces. His addresses have been trimmed of persiflage. He deals solely with facts. His words are rich with substance. There is no need for lofty eloquence. The old school politician with his oratorical gymnastics has been supplanted.

A means of showing the distance people travel to hear Hugh Dorsey: Going to Clayton from Clarkesville, we traveled over the Tallulah Falls road. All along the route we observed wagons, automobiles, buggies and mountain schooners going home. They were filled with faces we had seen in the audience at Clarkesville.

The turnouts branched off into road after road, some going into the mountains, some into the valleys. As far as twenty miles away we saw men and women who had been among the Dorsey throng. And they were still going. Dorsey day in the mountains has come to mean an event whereupon the voter bundles up his family and kin, leaves the field and home or workshop in charge of the hired help, and journeys over the trail to the scene of the speech.

Horticultural Society Re-elects Old Officers And Closes Convention

Albany, Ga., August 18.—(Special.)—Macon was chosen as the next meeting place of the Georgia State Horticultural society, the fortieth annual convention of which was brought to a close today. The winter session will be held in Athens, as usual.

All officers of the society were reelected, as follows: R. C. Berckmans, Augusta, president; B. W. Hunt, Eatonton, vice president; T. H. McHatton, Athens, secretary; J. B. Wight, Cairo, treasurer.

Family Quarantined After Child's Death; Paralysis Suspected

Americus, Ga., August 18.—(Special.) What may have been a case of infantile paralysis caused the death early today of Edwin Herring, Jr., 7-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Herring. The child was found desperately sick late last night and medical aid was unable to save its life.

The board of health, after consulting with the physicians of the city, have quarantined the Herring family and prevented the transportation of the body to Waycross, where the family had intended holding the interment, it being their old home.

AUGUSTA MAN IS HIT BY TRAIN AND KILLED

Barnesville, Ga., August 18.—(Special.)—David Tice, a mill man, giving his address as Augusta, who was hit by the engine of Central passenger No. 2, due here from Atlanta at 10 o'clock this morning, died at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. His left arm was broken, his leg bruised and he was injured internally. It is stated he was walking along the track reading a letter. Dr. C. H. Willis, the Central's surgeon, gave him medical attention. The body was shipped to Augusta this afternoon.

$40,000 PACKING PLANT TO BE BUILT IN MACON

Macon, Ga., August 18.—(Special.)—Plans for the erection of a $40,000 packing plant were announced here today by the Cudahy Packing company and the work will be gotten under way at once, the plant to be ready for occupancy by November 1. The building will be erected at Fifth and Poplar streets, and will include refrigerating machinery, coolers and smokehouse. The company will not undertake to cure Georgia beef here at present, but this will be done as soon as the supply warrants it.

FISHING CLUB'S HANDS AT RAYMOND ON STRIKE

Raymond, Ga., August 18.—(Special.) The large force of hands that has been for several months employed in building the large dam of the Raymond Fishing and Boating club's lake here went on a strike today at noon for an eight-hour working day with an increase in pay. The lake that was being constructed is to cover nearly a hundred acres and has a natural island about four hundred yards above the dam upon which the members expect to build a $5,500 club house. Several prominent Atlanta people have stock in the development.

WOMAN SHOT BY NEGRO IS EXPECTED TO DIE

Special Term of Court Will Be Called for Trial of Black.

Buchanan, Ga., August 18.—(Special.) The condition of Mrs. Eli Hallman, shot yesterday afternoon by a young negro whom the sheriff spirited to Atlanta to prevent a lynching, is not improved today and attending physicians say there is no chance for her recovery. A special term of court for the trial of Clarence Vaughn, who confessed the shooting, will soon be called, it is announced by Judge Bartlett and Solicitor Hutcheson, who are here today.

Quick and courageous action by Sheriff G. B. Richards, of Haralson county, alone saved the negro from mob violence, it is believed, for several hundred angry men congregated here after learning of the shooting with only one thought, the lynching of Vaughn.

Details of Sheriff Richards' wild auto race to Atlanta became known here Friday. The negro was captured on the outskirts of Carrollton by members of the sheriff's force. As the officers entered Bremen on the return trip home they ran into a mob which had formed on one of the main streets. The crowd surged toward the car, but Sheriff Richards turned his machine and made for the rear of some store buildings, and when he emerged found himself headed toward Tallapoosa. Arriving there and learning that other mobs had congregated in Buchanan he decided to undertake a dash through Bremen on his way to Atlanta.

Passing through Bremen he was observed by a few persons who took up the chase. He traveled several miles before discovering that he was followed. After this discovery there began a wild race. The sheriff first intended to catch a train at Villa Rica, but this idea was abandoned when the pursuing car was noticed only a short distance in the rear. He then decided to endeavor to reach Winston, six miles away, before the train. He made the last three miles of the journey in total darkness, the car's lights being turned out. He arrived at Winston just a few moments before the train and took the negro safely aboard.

30,000 TROOPS CAUGHT IN TROPICAL HURRICANE

at Llane Grande, Mercedes and Mission. Thirty thousand soldiers sleeping in public buildings. Four and one-half inches of rain fell here. There is lull now, but new storm is reported coming from the east."

Governor Edward F. Dunne, of Illinois, and staff, who have spent two days in Brownsville, left northbound this afternoon and are due to arrive in Houston tomorrow morning.

It was stated at army headquarters here that fear was entertained that immense quantities of army stores and supplies in and around Brownsville would be destroyed.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE AT CORPUS CHRISTI.

Corpus Christi, Texas, August 18.—Blowing at 70 miles an hour velocity, the forerunner of the tropical storm in the Gulf of Mexico was felt tonight as it approached the Texas coast at this point, Brownsville and on the intermediate plains.

Early tonight the local weather bureau station estimated that the crest of the storm would reach here about midnight with the wind attaining a velocity of probably 120 miles an hour.

But few details of the storm's work south or north of here had been received early tonight. In Corpus Christi, however, the gale had carried almost every movable thing before it. In its wake it had left demolished cottages along the beach front here, thousands of dollars damage to buildings in the business section and a heavy sea running in Corpus Christi bay. The waves, whipped over the beach in the northern section of the city, beaching small craft and carrying up on the shore debris from a score of docks and small bathing pavilions.

Loyd's pier, one of the largest pleasure resorts in this section of the coast, which juts out over the water 1,000 feet, had been almost completely demolished at 6 o'clock tonight. The only portion that remained was a two-story structure adjoining the shore.

Fronting the business section, which is built on the beach proper, is a 4-foot breakwater. Incoming heavy seas were dashing over that and threatened to wash over it.

The small freight steamer Pilot Boy, owned by the Texas and Gulf Steamship company, of Galveston, was sunk in the gulf today. One report received here stated that all of the crew of twelve were rescued and another reported that three of the crew had been washed ashore at Port Aransas.

Thus far there has been no loss of life in or about Corpus Christi, and, so far as known, none seriously injured. Ample warning of the storm, it was said, had given residents opportunity to prepare for the hurricane.

The city of Corpus Christi is situated on a boot-shaped peninsula, 18 miles from the open gulf, but surrounded on three sides by Corpus Christi and Nueces bays. On the other side of the bay are Mustang and Padre islands, forming a breakwater to any tidal wave that might approach from the gulf. One channel connects Corpus Christi bay from the open gulf, on each side of which are situated Port Aransas and Aransas Pass, respectively. What damage has been done there, however, is impossible to estimate, as telegraph communication was lost early in the afternoon.

Railroad property in this section has not been seriously damaged.

Corpus Christi is connected with the mainland from the "toe" of the peninsula by a causeway a mile and a quarter long. On it are strung telephone and telegraph lines. The latter failed at about 6:30 o'clock, while telephone communication had continued thirty minutes longer. Up to that time no serious damage had been done to the causewway proper, a concrete structure.

ONE SOLDIER KILLED IN STORM.

El Paso, Texas, August 18.—One soldier was killed and thousands of others encamped in and near El Paso suffered great discomfort as a result of heavy rains which fell throughout last night.

During the all-night storm Private Charles Johnston, headquarters company, Seventh United States infantry, of Chouteau, Mont., was killed by lightning in his tent at Fort Bliss. Other soldiers nearby were stunned.

Water ran through the camps of the Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, South Carolina and Michigan national guard, nearly inundating some tents, and ran three feet deep in the company streets of the Thirty-first Michigan infantry.

PRIVATE SWITCHBOARD AT THE GEORGIA TECH

The Georgia School of Technology is installing a private telephone switchboard in the office of the school, which will be ready for use on September 1. The installation is being done by the Southern Bell Telephone company, and will add to the convenience of the different departments at Tech, which have hitherto had separate telephones.

SALE OF TIMBER LANDS AND OTHER UNALLOTTED LANDS AND SURFACE OF SEGREGATED COAL AND ASPHALT LANDS BELONGING TO THE CHOCTAW AND CHICKASAW TRIBES, EASTERN OKLAHOMA.

—— BY THE ——

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT.

There will be offered for sale at public auction at certain railroad points in Eastern Oklahoma, from October 4, 1916, to October 31, 1916, inclusive, approximately 908,000 acres in Eastern Oklahoma, belonging to the Choctaw and Chickasaw Nations of Indians, including therein approximately 823,500 acres of tribal timber lands with standing pine and hardwood timber thereon; 500 acres of other unallotted lands, and 84,000 acres of the surface of the segregated coal and asphalt lands. The timber lands and the surface of the segregated coal and asphalt lands will be offered for sale for not less than the appraised value. Land and timber will be sold together. The entire estate in the tribal timber lands and other unallotted lands will be sold, except, however, that of the segregated coal and asphalt land area only the surface will be sold, the coal and asphalt therein or thereunder being reserved except where the descriptive circular specifically states that the coal and asphalt will be sold with the surface. No person will be permitted to purchase more than 160 acres classified as agricultural land, nor more than 640 acres classified as grazing land. No limitation is placed on the acreage of timber land which may be purchased by one person. Residence on land not required. Bids may be submitted in person, or by agent with power of attorney, or by mail. Terms of sale of surface of segregated coal and asphalt lands, 25 per cent at time of sale, 25 per cent within one year and balance within two years from date of sale. Terms of sale of the tribal timber lands and other unallotted lands, 25 per cent cash at time of sale, and balance in three equal annual installments of 25 per cent each, payable in one, two, and three years respectively from date of sale; the purchasers of any of the abovementioned lands to pay 5 per cent interest per annum on all deferred payments. Bids by mail must be accompanied by certified checks or bank drafts for 25 per cent of amount of bids. Where houses or other valuable improvements are located on the timber lands or on the surface of the segregated coal and asphalt lands, the same will be sold with the timber land or with the surface of the segregated coal and asphalt land as the case may be, at not less than the combined appraised value, said improvements to be paid for in full at time of sale. The right to reject any and all bids is reserved.

Detailed information, including descriptive lists or circulars concerning the lands and in regard to the dates, places, conditions and terms of sale may be obtained from the Superintendent for the Five Civilized Tribes, Muskogee, Oklahoma.

Maps and plats may also be obtained from said Superintendent at a cost of from 25c to 50c each.

CATO SELLS,
Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

To CHARLES JOSEPH FREAS, late of Woodstown, N. J., or Atlanta, Ga.:

You are hereby notified that a final rule for divorce has been granted against you at the suit of Anna May Kaer Freas, which will be heard in the court of common pleas No. 1 of Philadelphia county, of December term, 1914, No. 1911, on Monday the 18th day of September, 1916, on which day you may appear and show cause, if any you have, why such divorce should not be granted against you.
